STRIKE SHUTS DOWN ALL BRITISH COAL MINES

SHOPKEEPERS RAISE FUNDS TO AID REGION HIT BY FAMINE

Street Unions And Local Tobacco Company Start Drive For Money

GOAL IS $400,000

Subscriptions Now Total $210,000; To Make Canvas Of Chinese

A drive for $400,000 in aid of the North China Famine Relief Fund has been launched by the Shanghai Merchants' Famine Relief Society, consisting of the Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Co. and the Federated Street Unions. Already $210,000 has been raised. Twenty thousand booklets have been distributed among the Shanghai shopkeepers. Each leaflet consists of 20 fifty-cent subscriptions.

Under the auspices of the society bazaars and concerts will be given on various dates. The New World Amusement Park has consented to contribute the receipts for the three days beginning November 1. During these days, programs of entertainment will be staged by school children and boy scouts and the entire proceeds will go to the relief fund. Several theaters are being approached to take similar action.

DEPUTIES SENT OUT

The society has deputed representatives to the various famine-stricken regions to investigate the conditions. These deputies are assisted by the staff of the local branches of Nanyang Bros. Tobacco Company.

Daily meetings of the executive committee of the society are being held at 13 Avenue Edward VII. Mr. Wu Ting-sung, of the Nanyang Bros. Tobacco Company is president. The tobacco company itself has already given $100,000, while two of its directors, Mr. Kam Chiu-nan and Kam Yue-ka, have given $50,000 each. Mr. Chen, another director, has contributed $10,000.

MONEY PLEDGED

The company has further pledged the subscription of $5 per case of cigarettes sold over and above the nominal 20,000 cases monthly consumption in China.

The distribution of the funds is being carried out by the local gentry, the representatives dispatched by the Street Unions, the Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Company agents and the Buddhists' Society's local branches.

The Shanghai Merchants' Famine Relief Society is independent from the International Famine Relief Committee, it being a purely distinct Chinese organisation.

HAWKER GIVES HIS MITE

An interesting subscription was received yesterday at the headquarters of the Chekiang Road Street Union. A hawker by the name of Yu Yao-tang, who sells sponge cakes, handed in to the secretary, Mr. Sun Ching-hu, the sum of $2, promising to subscribe more if he is able to.

More Fatal Belfast Riots

Wife of the Lord Mayor of Cork, leaving Brixton Prison in London after visiting her husband there who is reported to be dying as the result of his hunger strike.

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 17.—The Cork correspondent of the Associated Press reports the death of Fitzgerald, the first hunger-striker, after having fasted for 68 days. The condition of Fitzgerald became so grave today that the others consented to the prison doctor giving him treatment, but this came too late to save his life.

LORD MAYOR WEAK

The London correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs that Lord Mayor MacSweeney passed the sixty-sixth day of his hunger-strike fairly well. A bulletin states that he shows "ever-increasing weakness, but his mind is clearer, keener and more active than ever." This afternoon he conversed with several relatives.

New York, Oct. 17.—An Associated Press message reports a speech, by Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary for War, at Dundee, in which he predicted the danger of embroilment with the United States if the north and south of Ireland were left to fight out their differences.

SEES GREAT DANGER

He said this would mean that the sympathy of English people would go in favor of Ulster, whereas influential persons in the United States sympathised with the Southerners, and while English volunteers would join the North, reinforcements from the United States would join the South, thereby creating such a state of tension that Britain would be faced with the greatest danger. Mr. Churchill further declared that the present reign of terror in Ireland would be suppressed.

BELFAST RIOTING

New York, Oct. 17.—The correspondent of the Associated Press at Belfast states that two further deaths occurred today as the result of the rioting in North Belfast on Saturday night, when one person was killed outright and several seriously injured.

London, October 18.—There was a renewal of rioting at Belfast this week-end following on a Sinn Fein mob firing with revolvers into the Loyalists' quarters. The police intervened and fired on the opposing faction. Two armored cars, supported by a big force of soldiers arrived later and opened fire with Hotchkiss guns. Order was restored after three persons had been killed and 18 seriously wounded.

CATHOLIC PRIESTS HERE ON MISSION

Missionaries In Shanghai On Way To New Field In South

Six American priests of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America arrived in Shanghai yesterday afternoon on the China Mail Steamship Company's steamer Nanking on their way to Hongkong, from whence they will proceed to Yuenkong in Kwangtung Province, their new field—a mission district established for the Maryknoll Fathers of Ossining, New York, by Father James Walsh, who visited China three years ago. With the Maryknoll fathers is Father Edward Byrne, who goes to Manila as secretary to Bishop McCloskey.

The Maryknoll missionaries are Father Frederick Dietz, who is in charge of the party; Father Robert Cairns, Father Joseph Donovan, Father Anthony Hodgins, Father William McKenna and Father George F. Wiseman.

DINNER TONIGHT

Arrangements have been made by local Catholics for the entertainment of the visiting priests, the program including a dinner to be given tonight at the Kalee Hotel. Last night they were guests at St. Xavier's College and today they will visit the church, colleges and institutions of the Jesuit Fathers at Siccawei and other points of interest about Shanghai.

The Catholic Foreign Missionary Society of America, with which the priests are affiliated, was approved by the Council of Archbishops at Washington on April 27, 1911, and was authorised at Rome by Pope Pius X on June 29, 1911.

TO AROUSE AMERICANS

Its object is to train priests for missions to the Chinese and to arouse American Catholics to a clearer appreciation of their duty towards this need. A Seminary of Philosophy and Theology was opened at Maryknoll, Ossining, New York, on September 18, 1912; a preparatory college was opened in the Diocese of Scranton, Pa., towards the end of September, 1913, and a Procure in San Francisco on September 13, 1917.

Father James Walsh, Superior of the Mission, left America at the end of 1917, and on April 25, 1918, completed arrangements with Bishop Guebriant of Canton, of the Paris Province of the Society of Jesus, to take over a field of labor at Yeungkong, some distance from Canton. Father Walsh subsequently wrote a most interesting account of his journeyings in the East, entitled "Observations in the Orient."

Vladivostok, Oct. 18.—The Vladivostok Assembly, after several days' debate on the action of the non-Socialists in leaving the Cabinet, passed the following resolution:

"The Ministers have carried out a democratic policy. With regard to China the right policy has been followed, and must be continued. The secession of the non-Socialists must not affect the continuation of a democratic policy, which must be adhered to in re-forming the Ministry. The time for reconstruction of the Cabinet has now come."

Vladivostok, Oct. 18.—Three Japanese soldiers and one officer were killed while guarding the railway at a summer resort near Vladivostok. The reason for this attack is a mystery.

Several Japanese detachments the following evening surrounded the place, and started to fire upon the population indiscriminately. The population were seized with panic. So far as is known only two girls were killed.

PIECE GOODS MEN GET CONCESSIONS FROM JAPANESE

Some Firms Are Offered Credit Privileges By Nipponese

EIGHTY CHINESE SUSPEND

Dealers Association Head Describes Plight Of Local Merchants

In an attempt to displace American and British products Japanese piece goods importers are offering, wide credit privileges to the few Chinese dealers who have been able to weather the present crisis. In the meantime American and British merchants are not changing the policy previously announced and the situation is admitted to be acute. In an interview yesterday Mr. Chu Kung-shih, president of the Importers Exchange Maintenance Association, said that nearly all the 500 Chinese piece goods dealers are on the verge of bankruptcy. Some 80 have suspended business, he said. Many are known to have left Shanghai after the various drops in exchange.

Other foreign importers do not regard the credit policy of Japanese as important.

"The Japanese will extend credit to very few Chinese dealers," one who is in close touch with the market said last night.

Losses by Chinese merchants will exceed 30,000,000 taels, according to Mr. Chu Kung-shih, and he anticipated no relief. He said:

"Unless some method is devised to avert the present crisis, the effect of the depression will be felt for some years. Business has practically ceased. There is very little trading in piece goods although the godowns and wharves are piled high with merchandise billed to Chinese who are unable to meet their contracts. In the meantime Japanese merchants are offering spot cargo at prices far below the market.

"The famine in Northern China has reduced the demand so that an additional difficulty is presented to the situation caused by the drop in exchange and increase in prices by British and American manufacturers."

Mr. Chu said that his organisation would approach the Consular Body to enlist aid in adjusting the present difficulties.

The Importers' Exchange Maintenance Association of which Mr. Chu is the head, was formed by over 200 large Chinese importing firms as a result of the exchange situation in June. It consists of importers in woolen and cotton piece-goods, hardware, chemicals, machinery and foreign provisions.

Letters were sent to the British and American Chambers of Commerce, suggesting the modification of the terms of the contracts

Local Shriners In Preparations For Pilgrimage

Enthusiastic preparations are being made by Shanghai Shriners for the reception here early next year on special pilgrimage from America of the Imperial Potentate and his divan—the first pilgrimage to China in the history of Shrinedom.

Members of Nomad Oasis of the Shriners Club were appraised of the coming visit at a meeting held at the Astor House Monday evening, receiving with great satisfaction the word that Imperial Potentate Ellis Lewis Garretson and his divan will arrive here in January or February of next year for the purpose of holding a ceremonial session for the benefit of those elegible and desirous of making the pilgrimage to Mecca. Committee heads to begin making arrangements for the occasion were named and there were talks by various members in connection with the forthcoming event. It is expected that there will be at least 100 Shriners from various points in China who will join the caravan here.

DR. HYKES TALKS

There was an interesting talk by Dr. J. R. Hykes on his experiences in Shrinedom and Judge C. S. Lobingier gave a very interesting review of Shriner influences which have been active in breaking down tendencies toward provincialism among Americans living abroad. He pointed toward Shriner pilgrimages such as those to the Philippines and the prospective one to China as factors in the building up of broader, more progressive and more constructive views toward world affairs.

Dr. J. R. Hykes was elected by the meeting as chairman of a committee to prepare application blanks for those desirous of participating in the ceremonial to be held in connection with the pilgrimage and Mr. Barnes Moss was made chairman of a committee to compile a complete list of Masons elegible for the pilgrimage. Judge C. S. Lobingier was named to head the committee on housing, to provide suitable accommodations for the Imperial Potentate and his divan and also for the candidates who are expected to come in to Shanghai from outside points. Dr. Julian Petit was made chairman of the entertainment committee and Mr. W. J. O'Brien of the finance committee.

Poles Given Credit Of Saving Europe From Bolshevism

Germans' In Upper Silesia Causing Trouble Say Natives Of Country

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 18.—A public mass meeting, in which more than 3,000 Upper-Silesians and Poles took part, has been held in Berlin to protest against the continual provocative acts of the German authorities in Upper-Silesia.

One of the speakers, according to a report in l'Homme Libre, described the victorious position of Poland, and called for cheers for the Polish Army, which, he declared, "had saved Europe from a Bolshevist invasion."

Eventually a resolution was adopted, denouncing, in vigorous terms, the conspiracies associated with German policy in Upper Silesia, and applauding the action of Poland and France.

Helsingfors, October 17.—The Bolshevik journal Krasnaya Gazeta states that a Chinese military and diplomatic delegation, headed by General Tsan Si-lin, has arrived in Moscow with the object of opening normal political and trade relations between Russia and China.

The Soviet Government on October 2 presented the Chinese Government through General Tsan Si-lin with a memorandum, setting forth conditions for the conclusion of a political treaty between Russia and China.

LABOR LEADERS URGE MEDIATION BUT LONG DRAWN FIGHT FEARED

Food Costs Expected To Rise Sharply As Millions Are Thrown Out Of Employment; Hope Is Seen In Joint Meeting Which Is Being Held

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 18.—Messages from the coal-fields show that the strike of miners is complete and universal. Not a single ton of coal will be produced today in Great Britain. Until a settlement is reached the country will be unable to think or talk of anything else. It is pointed out that a quick settlement is not likely, as nothing but a ballot of the men can now achieve a resumption of work.

The Government is already overwhelmed with volunteers. Earl Haig has appealed to ex-service-men to exercise a steadying influence. Special constables are being enrolled.

Talk of mediation is already in the air, probably as the result of speeches by Labor leaders during the week-end, which encourage the belief that the Railwaymen and Transport Workers prefer mediation to a sympathetic strike.

Much is expected from a joint meeting of the Parliamentary Labor members and the Executive of the Labor Party, which is being held tonight, preliminary to the opening of Parliament tomorrow.

London, October 17.—The bitter feeling prevailing among the Welsh miners is exemplified by the threat of their Executive to press for the withdrawal of the engine-men and stokers from the mines if the strike is still unsettled by the end of the month. This would mean the collieries would be shut down completely, as the mines would become flooded.

The Executive of the Transport Workers' Federation, which is watching developments in connection with the coal strike, met this morning and adjourned until tomorrow. It is stated that the attitude of the Transport Workers' will not be defined until they meet the railwaymen.

In response to the request of the Government to cancel racing for at least a week, the Jockey Club announce the withdrawal of the Doncaster, Sandown and Stockton fixtures for the current week.

The Newcastle race-meeting next week has been abandoned, and it is the general opinion that all race-meetings will be cancelled during the strike.

WHAT THE STRIKE MEANS

The immensity and gravity of the miners' action is shown by the following accounts from the London press, printed while the negotiations for peace were under way:

The country is threatened with the gravest industrial crisis in its history.

The miners of Great Britain this week balloted on the question of a strike to enforce:

2s. a shift increased wages.

14s. 2d. a ton reduction on price of household coal.

It is practically certain that, on the advice of their leaders, the men have voted overwhelmingly in favor of extreme measures.

This will mean that:

Prices will be sent up all round.

Kindred industries will be paralysed.

Unemployment will become wide-spread.

Railway and other transport will be stopped.

Food supplies will be endangered.

VOICES OPPOSITION

Mr. Herbert Smith, President of the Yorkshire Miners' Association, and one of the most level-headed men in the labor movement, was asked, in view of Mr. Smillie's declaration regarding nationalisation, if he was in favor of that question being brought into the present dispute. He replied with emphasis:

"I am not. I am as much in favor of nationalisation as anybody, but it must come through the ballot-box, that's all." Mr. Smith, known to all Yorkshire miners as "Our Herbert," is second only to Mr. Smillie in the miners' councils, and he would probably have held first position before now if his strong common sense had been replaced by that strain of fanaticism which has made the Lanarkshire miner such a force among the men.

Mr. Smith was born in a workhouse 60 years ago, and, by pluck and perseverance, forced himself early into a leading place in industrial affairs. He served on the recent Royal Coal Commission, and impressed even the coal own-

New York, Oct. 17.—The Berlin correspondent of the Associated Press reports that MM. Zinovieff and Losowsky, the Russian Soviet delegates attending the Independent Socialist Conference at Halle, have been ordered to leave the country by the German Government.

London, October 17.—The resolution passed by the Congress of German International Socialists at Halle adhering to the Third Internationale has resulted in the withdrawal of the moderate element from the Congress.

The German Socialist organ Die Rote Fahne states that the negotiations with the representatives of Soviet Russia at present in Germany have resulted in the Soviet Government ordering 6,000 railway engines, and a large number of turbines.

Explosion Kills Hundreds In Colliery At Tanshan; Ministry Orders Inquiry

Officials Of Kailan Mining Administration Say Accident Underground Was Caused When Cigarettes Were Lighted

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, October 19.—The Ministry of Agriculture has demanded an investigation of an explosion in the Tangshan Colliery of the Kailan Mining Administration which caused the death of 500 workers. News of the disaster was suppressed four days.

Officials of the Kailan Mining Administration state that the explosion was caused by the lighting of cigarettes by miners working on the ninth level where coal damp was prevalent.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, Oct. 18.—It is reported from a reliable source that a serious explosion occurred on Thursday last in the Kailan Administration's mines at Tongshan, as the result of which upwards of 400 Chinese working in the mines sustained casualties.

According to the Shun Pao, local Chinese daily, 800 workmen lost their lives when fire broke in the Kailan mines in Tangshan. The Kailan Mining Administration, according to the newspaper is to pay $60 to each of the families of the victims.

LEICESTERSHIRE LEADER

Opposing the election of a local Council of Action at Coalville Trade Council meeting, Mr. John Baker, president, Leicestershire Miners' Association, declined to support any attempt to defeat the Government. If not satisfied, let them elect a Labor Government. They had no mandate from the miners for a Council of Action, and he thought if unnecessary. The Council was appointed, miners' delegates dissenting.

IMMENSE MONEY LOSS

Apart from the loss incurred by the stoppage of other industries, it is computed that a coal strike will cost the nation over £11,300,000 a week. The miners themselves will lose £5,040,000 in wages. Some idea of the unemployment which would follow a stoppage of work at the collieries will be gathered from the information given below, which has been compiled from trade sources. It shows how long the various industries could carry on should coal supplies fail:

	No employed	Time limit
Cotton	450,000	2 weeks
Printing	150,000	2 ,,
Motor	80,000	3 ,,
Machine tool	40,000	4 ,,
Cable-making	30,000	3 ,,
Explosives	30,000	6 ,,
Boot and Shoe	97,000	3 ,,

Taking into account the whole of the workers likely to be affected it is estimated that a month's strike would cost British workmen no less a sum than £100,000,000 in wages. Seamen and dock and riverside employes alone will lose £2,600,000. The effect of a stoppage on the coal trade itself would be so calamitous that it might never recover.

Already the position of the British export trade is in a parlous state. In 1914 we exported in round numbers 62,000,000 tons of coal, valued at £42,000,000. Last year we exported only about two-thirds of this quantity, with a turn-over of, approximately, £90,000,000.

EXCHANGE AFFECTED

Thus the value of our exported coal, even with a markedly reduced output, is more than twice what it was six years ago, a circumstance of enormous moment in the regulation of the exchange and the import of food stuffs. Last year instead of exporting 5,000,000 tons of coal to the Argentine, we sent there, roughly speaking, only 50,000 tons.

Contracts have been placed in America for 300,000 tons of coal for Denmark, while seven large ships are loading in Australia, or are on the way from Australia with coal for European countries formerly supplied by Great Britain.

The New York Journal of Commerce announces that the Colliery Investment Trust of Swansea, through the managing director, Mr. J. H. Gardner, has concluded contracts for the purchase of 35,000,000 tons of American coal. The coal will be delivered at the rate of 7,000,000 tons per annum, and Mr. Gardner is arranging for the transport to Europe. But the calamitous effects of a strike would not, of course, end with the coal industry.

A strike of the miners would result in the immediate stoppage of all the engineering and shipbuilding works in the country, with the exception of any that may hold stocks of fuel. Practically, the stoppage would be universal. Blast furnaces would be closed down, and steel works would be closed. Textile factories would have to close their gates.

MANY WILL SUFFER

This means that many hundreds of thousands of highly paid skilled and unskilled men and women would be deprived of their livelihood. The wives and little children with empty grates and shortage of food would be the chief sufferers.

The so-called capitalist classes would hardly be affected at all.

In the great cotton industry the prospect can only be described as appalling. Spinners and manufacturers in Lancashire, Yorkshire, Cheshire and Derbyshire employ some 450,000 hands. At the end of the first week of a coal strike it is estimated that 225,000 of these would be out of work.

By the end of second week according to the considered estimate of the trade organisations, the whole 430,000 would probably be workless.

In the subsidiary trades, such as printing, the whole of the 150,000 hands employed would probably be workless in a fortnight, 75,000 of them going at the end of the first week.

FOOD COSTS TO RISE

Meanwhile, a grave warning is issued by Mr. McCurdy, the Food Controller, that still dearer food will be the winter outlook in the event of the miners ceasing work. "During the coming winter," he states, "the level of food prices will be raised considerably beyond anything which we now anticipate if this promised coal strike comes about. We are certainly preparing for it, and we shall do our utmost to maintain the supply of food to strikers and non-strikers alike, as we did during the railway crisis. It is rank hypocrisy to profess indignation at the mere thought of a blockade of Russia, if, on a small pretext, they are prepared to inflict a far more effective blockade on Great Britain, by cutting off supplies which are essential to the industrial life of this country."

FIRST ENGLISH SOVIET

Speaking at West Mersea, Essex, Sir L. Worthington Evans, M.P., said that the "Council of Action" was the first English Soviet. That "Council" had declared they were out to prevent war with Russia, but the Prime Minister had been three months ahead of them. No matter how they might deny it, the Daily Herald received assistance from the Soviet Government. He knew that for a certainty.

The Daily Herald had been representing the Soviet Government's views, and not even the real views of British trade unionists.

The prospects of peace at home were now endangered by the threatened strike of coal miners. If that strike did take place, a large number of industries would be paralysed within a week, and within a fortnight or three weeks hundreds of thousands of men would be thrown out of employment. It would also mean that foodstuffs would go up in price because the railways would only be able to carry absolute necessities. He would not go into the merits of the case, but he had no doubt that what was being asked for by the miners was merely a "blind" for nationalisatoin, a policy which the miners' leaders had been fighting for for months past.

FEARS REBELLION

If the strike were really to take place it would be the first step towards the revolution which so many of the hotheads who were desirous of forming a Soviet Government here had been planning for. If it were merely a matter of extra wages, the position would not be anything like so dangerous, but what the miners were now asking for was an absolute impossibility.

The price the public were now paying for coal was the exact cost of household coal, and there was no profit which could either be given as wages or warrant a reduction in cost to the consumer. The only profit the Government made on coal now was on exports, so that it was not made out of the British people. It might be the strike would not take place, but he was not sanguine enough to expect that, because there were political elements behind the movement, which might urge the miners on.

Peace at home and peace abroad were the things most to be desired by the nation at this moment. Generally speaking, unemployment was not great. The nation was gradually recovering, and it only required a little more breathing space and we should have won the peace as well as winning the war.

Referring to his work while at the Ministry of Pensions, Sir L. Worthington Evans said that today over 1,000,000 disabled men were drawing pensions, and something like 2½ millions of people were receiving money on one account or another in regard to war pensions.

MATTERS IN DISPUTE

Ostensibly the dispute has arisen upon the following demands by the miners:

A reduction of 14s. 2d. a ton in the cost of household coal.

A wage advance of 2s. a shift for members of 18 years of age and upwards, with corresponding advances for boys. The Government's reply to this claim may briefly be summarised thus:

There are no surplus profits on coal sold at home; it is supplied to the consumer at its economic price.

The estimated profit of £66,000,000 on export coal is due to the efforts neither of the owner nor the miner, but to the exceptional circumstances following the war, and should go to the Exchequer for the general benefit of the taxpayer.

If the miners' demands were granted the profit now estimated at £66,000,000 would entirely disappear. The reduction in the price of coal would absorb £36,000,000, and the miners would take the rest. The Exchequer—that is, the taxpayer—would be worse by the whole £66,000,000.

FRANCE SEEKING U.S. LEADERSHIP FOR FRATERNITY

Harding Says He Has Been Already Informally Seen On Nations' Union

(Reuter's Service)

Indianapolis, October 16.—Senator Harding, addressing a meeting of 5,000 persons here today, referring to the Democratic allegation that he intended to scrap the League of Nations, declared that, on the contrary, his purpose was to unite American public opinion upon modifications to the League or on a substitute for it.

Elyria, Ohio, October 16.—Governor Cox declared that Senator Harding's speech at Indianapolis was another "somersault" and meant that Senator Harding and his advisers had been "caught in No Man's Land and saw that they could not get back before Election Day."

Replying to a question, Governor Cox said that the Japanese question was a domestic issue and such issues should be removed from the jurisdiction of the League of Nations.

Greencastle, Indiana, Oct. 17.—Replying to criticisms of his proposal for an association of nations, Senator Harding declared that he had already been approached informally by a representative of France who asked that the United States should lead the way to world fraternity.

St. Louis, October 18.—Senator Harding closed his last extensive speaking trip here tonight, when he addressed a crowd which overflowed the Coliseum, and gave him a great ovation, cheering and singing for half an hour.

In his speech the candidate coupled a consideration of embarrassing foreign political entanglements with a plan for the extension of the nation's foreign trade and commerce. He declared that there had been too much meddling in Europe, and too little trade co-operation in Latin America and other lands. He urged a Republican Congress to promote the extension of American banking and merchant marine, and to increase trade in places where opportunities were to be found.

with the foreign importers. The modifications sought included the extension of time of delivery under contracts under which shipments had been made and the cancellation of all contracts for the goods which had not been shipped.

The suggestions were turned down by both chambers. The resolution passed unanimously by the British Chamber was:

"That the British Chamber, while sympathising with Chinese merchants in the losses with which they are faced, as described in the letters received from the Piece Goods Guild and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, is of opinion that the matter is one in which as a body it can take no effective action. Further, that this chamber declines to associate itself with any movement which threatens the sanctity of the written contract."

The local American Chamber of Commerce later passed a resolution endorsing the action taken by the British Chamber.

Comptroller Blames Bankers' Greed For Security Shrinkage

U.S. Official Severely Criticises System In Vogue On New York Stock Exchange

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 17.—A statement issued by Mr. John S. Williams, Comptroller of Currency, declares that the unjustifiable interest exacted for demand loans by the New York banks has been an active contributing cause to the huge shrinkage in value of all securities held by the banks last year.

He declares that the call money rates in New York are the highest in the world.

FEW FIX RATES

The renewal rates fixed daily by a small coterie of stock-exchange brokers govern the interest on brokers' loans in nearly all New York banks. He states that the raising and lowering of renewal rates on the exchange are frequently accompanied by upward movements of stocks and securities. Those responsible for fixing the rates therefore have the opportunity, whether exercised or not, of profiting largely by operations on the stock market.

Mr. Williams does not undertake to say that this informal money committee takes improper advantage of this opportunity, as he has no knowledge of the subject, but, he says, there are men who severely censure the existing arrangements.

DANGER IN SYSTEM

Certainly, he adds, all prudent thinking business-men will agree as to the danger of concentrating such an opportunity in the hands of a few. Temptation must arise, as human nature is not changed by men rising to high positions in the financial world. Mr. Williams contends that public sentiment is strong enough to bring about a reform.

Chinese Is Killed In Motor Accident

A Chinese washerman was killed at the corner of Peking and Kiangse Roads shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a motor accident when a truck and motor cycle narrowly avoided a head on collision.

The motor cycle, driven by a Japanese and carrying the washerman behind the saddle and another Chinese and a small girl in the side car, was running south in Kiangse Road and the truck, belonging to a Boundary Road express delivery company, was travelling east in Peking Road. The cycle rider swerved sharply to avoid collision and the rider behind the saddle was evidently thrown under the wheels of the heavy vehicle beneath which he was crushed.

The truck driver was detained by the police and an inquest will be held this morning.

Far Eastern Republic Replies To Japanese Threats Of Violence

Charges Against Semenoff And Promises Of Early Peace And Unity Made By State's Prime Minister

(Russia News Agency)

Verdhne Udinsk, October 14.—Regarding the situation in the Russian Far East, Mr. Krasnoshekoff, Prime Minister of the Far Eastern Republic, stated in an interview given to a foreign correspondent:

"The statement of the Japanese Information Bureau of the 11th instant about the Far Eastern situation came as a shocking surprise to every fair-minded observer of current events. Its tone and threats of smashing blows and physical violence sound strange in the atmosphere of peace and order, reigning throughout the Far East except in the unhappy black belt around Chita.

"The accusations of the Japanese Information Bureau that the Verdhne Udinsk representatives are endangering the peace of the Far East are mere gossip, when the old Zabaikal fox, Semenoff, dons the mask of democracy and his hangmen burn villages near Aksha and hang peasants and flog women at Beklemishewo, the outsider may as well ask pertinently who is the tiger and behind whose mask he stands?

"The question about priority among the different territorial governments is not new to the Japanese Command. Ever since the first note of General Oii addressed to me, as the Prime Minister, the Government at Verdne Udinsk claims to itself the sovereignty and this claim has been recognised by all the territorial governments except Vladivostok.

PLAN NEW GOVERNMENT

"This question has lost its poignancy as the impending Interterritorial Conference will create a new government to whom all governments shall submit.

"Besides this it is entirely a question of internal politics and we have the clear and unmistakable statement of the high and respected authority as General Oii that the High Command will preserve complete neutrality and will never dictate its will to our people and we believe in him.

"The Government of the Far Eastern Republic is not the "obedient servant of Moscow;" neither has it been nor will it ever be the 'obedient servant' of any capital or state. It is the servant of the people who have elected it.

"It is grateful to the entire Russia that it has recognised its independence, does not violate its territory and does not dictate its will to it.

NO SECRET TREATIES

"It is bound by no secret agreements. The Far Eastern Republic is free and independent and her door is wide-open to all nations, especially its near neighbors who are willing to enter as friends and traders, not brandishing arms in the face of their weaker and younger brother.

"The Government of the Far Eastern Republic has not broken faith in all its declarations. All statements of its responsible representatives, President of the Council of Ministers and Heads of Missions Shatoff and Yourin, are founded upon the declaration of independence. Not a single breach of promise can be held out against it.

"Its army stands quietly on the demarkation line in the face of flagrant violation by Semenoff, Baron Ungern and Tapkhaieff, for whose conduct General Takayanaga guaranteed and whom nobody can control or stop.

"The whole world shall wonder at the loving solicitation expressed for Chita and its Ataman and the wonder shall turn into amazement when the world shall learn what is going on in the Black Belt. It is proclaimed that the Chita Assembly holds sway over Eastern Transbaikalia. This is not the fact.

"In Eastern Transbaikalia there exists a local government at Nerchinsk regularly elected and constituted, ruling over all the territory between west of the demarkation line to the east of the railway line.

"There has recently been organised a Peasant's Local Government. Only the right of way is held by Semenoff, thanks to foreign guns and armored trains that accidentally came into his possession. Over the railway the Free Government of Chita has no control.

"The National Assembly rules only over civil Chita. The military men do not submit to it. They are neutral.

SEMENOFF STRONG

"Semenoff is strong," says General Oii, 'because he has gold.' But may we ask whose gold is this and is this not the root of the love of the home guards of Semenoff?

"The recent preliminary Interterritorial Conference, by an unanimous vote, has told the Chita Assembly that should it take full power into its hands and submit Semenoff to its will as the commanders at Vladivostok, Blogoveschensk and Verdhne Uninsk submit to their respective governments, it will be recognised as an equal and be given a place among the family of free territories.

"The Verdhne Udinsk, Government, looking back at the eight months of its activity, may state that it has been true and remains so to all its declarations and principles and that it has followed the mandates of the people that elected and trust it. Now as in the first day of its organisation it demands the complete surrender of the remnants of reactionary army in the Far East.

FOR UNITY AND PEACE

"It stands for unity and peace, holding power in trust until another Interterritorial Conference shall elect a new government. It proclaims that the new government shall immediately find peace by calling a Constitutional Assembly of the Far East on a basis of universal, equal, direct and secret suffrage, to which all power shall be rendered and from whom all power shall issue.

"The Japanese Information Bureau has failed to support the glaring headline by an array of facts. The peace and good-will that settle upon the long suffering Far Eastern territory will not, we hope, be disturbed by this hysterical outburst. The Japanese High Command will not be swayed by it from its sound statement of policy of peace, order and good will and of complete non-interference. This is all what through the mouth of General Oii Japan wants.

TO OUTLIVE SUSPICION

"Peace and order there shall be if all parties concerned shall be governed by the high spirit of pure humanity, united by one desire. All the territories shall soon outlive the mutual suspicion and distrust shall learn to respect each other and claim respect of others. Out of disunion shall arise the one united, free, independent, self-governing Far Eastern Republic, strong by its unity and the support of its neighbors especially Japan which has contributed towards the bringing about of this unity."

Chinese Bolshevik Put Under Bonds

The Cantonese school teacher, Oo Kyi-ding, arrested on the charge of distributing Bolshevik literature in the Settlement, appeared again in the Mixed Court yesterday before Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kwan, and after testimony had been adduced tending to show the young man irresponsible, was bound over to keep the peace, two friends being required to sign supporting bonds.

When the case was called D. S. Yorke stated that the Arsenal authorities had made a request to have the defendant turned over to them, owing to the fact that he had also distributed the hand bills in Chinese territory. He had given the names of several Chinese with whom he had been in touch outside the Settlement and if turned over to the Chinese authorities the case might be cleared up. Mr. Brown, appearing for the defense, called witnesses who testified that the defendant was of an excitable nature, one stating his belief that at times his mind was deranged.

In granting the bond the court cautioned the defendant.

SOUTH FUKIEN STAMPING OUT OPIUM GROWING

To combat the opium evil in South Fukien, a successful campaign is being conducted by the recently organised South Fukien Opium Prevention Society.

Mr. Tan Ka-kee, president of the new body and founder of the $4,000,000 Amoy University, accompanied by several other local leaders, is visiting the various South Fukien cities to carry out the campaign.

The latest report is to the effect that the visit of the delegation has been very successful, because all military officials have already received personal orders to allow absolutely no planting of opium this fall.

APPEAL TO PRESS

An appeal was sent to the press asking for co-operation: "We, the South Fukien Opium Prevention Society on account of the open and wilful disregard of the law against the production and sale of opium in this province appeal to the world press and all welfare organisations to give immediate help to prevent the planting of this fall's crop. During the past year enough was grown to last for five years. If the crop is harvested this fall there will be enough to supply the demand for 20 years."

WIRES TO CITIES

Already telegrams have been sent to the various anti-opium associations in other cities, to the Chambers of Commerce in the Straits Settlements where many are natives of South Fukien, to the president and other officials in Peking, to the press, and to General LI Hao-chi, Tuchun of the province.

Mr. Tan has given $1,000 and two others have given $500. Fifteen thousand posters have been distributed in the province urging the people to use the land for much needed food crops.

FRANCE MAKING GREAT STRIDES FOR RECOVERY

INDUSTRIES RESUMED

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 18.—Dr. G. Lowegren, Social Attache at the Swedish Legation at Paris, has just completed a tour of the devastated regions. The following are his impressions, which are endorsed by several of his fellow-countrymen, including Count Ehrensward, the Swedish Minister to France, who journeyed through the devastated north a few days ago:

GREAT WORK DONE

"We have unanimously to recognise," said M. Lowegren, "that the aspect of the devastated country in the north has entirely changed in the last year and a-half. An enormous work has been accomplished. The trenches have been filled, the barbed wire removed, and the land restored to cultivation.

"The peaceful French are, without gainsaying, an admirable race, quiet, laborious, indefatigable, and profoundly attached to their land and their country. They live a modest life of labor and economy, creating by their efforts the wealth which makes the power of France. No-one can withhold his admiration after having seen their work in the fields formerly laid waste.

INDUSTRY RECOVERING

"For obvious reasons, the reconstruction of the towns could not be effected as speedily as that of the country, but I and my compatriots gathered the impression that here also much has already been done. But what is most striking and important is that the industrial life has to a great extent recovered.

"What fine new factories at Tourcoing and Roubaix, and what an army of high chimneys, sending their smoke in great clouds heavenwards! This smoke is more significant than anything else, because it means that the Germans did not succeed in paralysing the industry of the north of France for long years."

JAPAN QUESTION TO BE DELAYED UNTIL ELECTIONS

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 17.—The Washington correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs that negotiations between the State Department and the Japanese Embassy with regard to the proposed anti-Japanese land legislation in California have been temporarily discontinued and will not be resumed until after the November elections in which the people of California will vote on the question of land legislation.

The correspondent explains that the negotiations have been discontinued because the meeting of the International Communications Conference is expected to engage the officials of the State Department for a long time.

The Bandman Company

Delightfully positive little Niqua Lewis, the Margery Maude of the Bandman Company, came into her own at the Lyceum last evening when she was entrusted with the lead role in Arnold Bennett's erotic and highly impossible fantasy, "Sacred and Profane Love."

In the part of "Carlotta Peel," loving and beloved of the morphine-eating pianist "Emilio Diaz," Miss Lewis had her first real opportunity since coming to Shanghai—and right nobly did she rise to the exactitudes of the difficult role.

Scarcely less effective was the work of Philip Carlton, as the musician. Especially was this true in his "big scene" with Miss Lewis, where he gave an exceptionally vivid portrayal of a strong man in the throes of drug addiction.

Beryl Barraclough did well with the somewhat unconvincing lines of "Rosalie," a French cocotte; while Leonard Stephens, as "Lord Alcar," and David Kier, as "Snape," contributed well-interpreted bits.

"Sacred and Profane Love" tells, in a more or less rambling fashion, the story of a young girl who gives herself to the reigning musical sensation of the London hour; runs away from him without leaving a clue to her identity; and then runs back when she discovers that he has become a morphine fiend.

The play is interesting, but improbable. It is filled with brilliant lines written in Bennett's best vein; but it is "talky" and labyrinthian in parts. Still, one has no business to miss it—it is simply one of those pertinent and impertinent productions which are proving the rage in London and New York these days.

And the company continues to be excellent.

PRETTY ROWING PROGRAM PLANNED FOR 1920 HENLI REGATTA THIS WEEK-END

Brilliant Throng Expected To Assemble For This Year's Exhibition Of Oarsmanship; Contemporary Discusses The Entrants' Faults And Virtues

By "Stroke"

And now comes Shanghai's premier water event of the year—the rowing regatta at Henli, which is scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday.

Arrangements have been practically completed for a picturesque and elaborate program of events, and Thomas Cooke and Son, who are attending to the booking, announce that a large number of spectators will undoubtedly be on hand for the affair.

The picture this year should be an unusually brilliant one, not only because of the large numbers of entries in each of the events, but because the reservations for house-boat space and other accommodations have been unusually large.

An esteemed contemporary, who has evidently made a close study of each of the entrants, writes as follows:

GRIFFIN TUB SCULLS

W. M. C. Woodfield has had plenty of experience and would improve the speed of his boat if the hands were thrown off quicker and the recovery made a little smarter.

R. H. Nash is on the light side for tub sculler. He should use his legs more and throw his head back for a body swing.

C. Buss is as yet not very steady in his boat and has the fault of making too much use of his arms.

S. Eyberg is irregular in his movements. Should cultivate a long swinging stroke with the help of his body.

SCULLING CHAMPIONSHIP

L. Bertes, a powerful oar, still is inclined to move too quickly both ways.

G. Wallace is very neat in his style but should try and bring the weight of his body to bear more on the oar.

B. A. Andersen must learn to keep a straight course and not bring the handles of the sculls so far back when finishing his stroke.

D. G. M. Drummond is an experienced oarsman, but out of practice which accounts for his slowness in all departments.

HONG FOURS

Andersen, Meyer and Co.

Stroke:—C. V. Jensen. Does not appear to be taking it seriously this season and has not been seen out.

No. 3: E. A. Dahlin. Has very little body swing but nevertheless puts in some good work.

No. 2: E. Edwards. The same may be said as of No. 3 and is also slow with his hands.

Bow: B. Sanders. Should swing straight and get more out of his legs and keep his eyes in the boat.

Arnhold Bros. and Co.

Stroke: A. N. Brown. Swings well, but must remember that a "hard finish" does not mean a quick "forced out often water blade."

When the stroke is finished the blade should come out naturally

No. 3: E. S. Barraclough Uses his legs well and obtains good drive but his recovery and hands are slow.

No. 2: I. Meyer. Back never straightens out. Hands are rowed into the stomach and are not cleanly dropped.

Bow: A. Nielson. Does not get the same pressure on his blade all through, this, in consequence of too much arm work.

Asiatic Petroleum Co.

Stroke: T. A. Spedding. Does his work very cleanly, but does not swing in the center of his boat.

No. 3: A. T. Shelton is inclined to "hunch" his shoulders especially his right one. Also skys his blade before the catch thereby missing water.

No. 2: A. W. Stubbs. Sits well up and uses his body swing to advantage, though getting "down to it" at the beginning would improve his catch considerably.

Bow: G. Ford. Should cultivate recovery and body swing, not move gently up and down the slide.

Jardine, Matheson and Co.

Stroke: T. R. Macdonald. Should get his hands away better and "have" on to it at the catch.

No. 3: G. J. Day. Has not learnt to throw his hands off properly and therefore has to use his slide to get in with stroke.

No. 2: H. J. Faers. Must learn to swing steadily and evenly and not occasionally make use of his arms, as he is inclined to do.

Bow: P. C. Mansfield. Short in his reach and does not straighten out to get the weight of his body at the beginning.

S. V. C. FOURS

American Co.

Stroke: F. W. Schlobohm. Makes too full use of his arms and leans towards his oar. Can be relied on to do his share of work.

No. 3: R. Philips. Swings straight and uses his weight evenly, but does not reach out far enough.

No. 2: G. H. Core. Would improve himself and the boat if he gave his head a tilt at the catch which should then give his body the natural swing back.

Bow: C. Humphreys. Works hard but digs into the water. The wrists should be used better to turn the blade.

Artillery

Stroke: L. Evans. Has the inclination of going deep and moreover does not hold his back straight.

No. 3: G. J. Day. See Jardine, Matheson and Co.

No. 2: J. B. Brown. Rushes forward much too quickly. Should keep his knees down longer and the arms well out before coming forward.

Bow: G. Ford. See Asiatic Petroleum Co.

CLUB FOURS

Stroke; T. W. R. Wilson. Is inclined to go deep and does not hold his slide long enough.

No. 3: F. W. Schlobohm. See American Co.

No. 2: A. W. Stubbs. See Asiatic Petroleum Co.

Bow: W. J. Brown. Should lean further back at the finish so as to get the blade easily out of the water. Also goes deep at times.

Stroke: T. R. Macdonald. See Jardine, Matheson and Co.

No. 3: A. J. Shelton. See Asiatic Petroleum Co.

No. 2: B. A. Anderson. Recovery is bad and the beginning of the stroke should be made more powerful.

Bow: O. A. Hansen. Is erratic

OUTLOOK NOT BRIGHT FOR THE HEAVIES

All They Have To Do Is Knock Out Jack Dempsey

By RAY PEARSON

What a lovely outlook exists for these follows who are aspirants for the world's heavy weight championship!

True, there aren't very many of them, but we might mention Bill Brennan, Harry Wills, Bat Levinsky, Georges Carpentier, Bob Martin and perhaps a few others.

It might be advisable for one and all of these so-called aspirants for the crown worn by Jack Dempsey to interview Billy Miske, home address St. Paul, Minn.

Miske was a member of the aspirants' class until he attempted to mingle in Dempsey society at Benton Harbor, Mich., a few days ago. Now we don't ever expect to hear of Billy ever trying to repeat his bold effort. Poor Bill!

As dandy a fellow as one would like to meet, and a fellow we all must admit is a good fighter, drops out of the contention and, it even is hinted, out of pugilism entirely, just because there is a man named Dempsey who holds the title and won't let go of it.

MISKE WAS FAVORED

Miske was rated the logical man to give Dempsey a battle worthy of the name, and because he had been able to last the limit in a couple of no-decision contests of ten and six rounds, respectively it was thought he might fist his way so well that there would be a new champion.

Now to get down to what we started to say. Appreciating the fact that Miske is a good fighter, what has that to do with Jack Dempsey? Jack isn't a good fighter (don't get excited)—he is better by a long, long way than good. He is marvelous, and you can't get away from that. Ask Billy Miske, and he'll tell you.

When Dempsey knocked Miske to the floor by one of his most select right hooks in the third round of their battle the St. Paul man was practically cuckoo for six or seven minutes. It took him several minutes longer than that to regain his normal mentality, but after six minutes of the resuscitation business Bill, hazy of noodle, opened his mouth and feebly remarked:

"O, what a wonderful fighter that fellow is."

TAKE A TIP FROM BILLY

Bill ought to know, we admit. Talking with him some four hours after he had been knocked out, one gleans far more convincing evidence of just what a sad time is coming to other aspirants in the field. We'll let Bill tell it himself, so here goes:

"I never knew there was such a fighter as this man Dempsey. It was hard to believe that there could be so much difference between a fighter of my caliber and Dempsey, but I surely had my eyes opened—and closed temporarily, too. I have beaten a lot of good fighters, and so I believed that I was able to cope successfully with

Great Fight Crowd Sees Legalised Boxing Return To Madison Square Garden

Famous Edifice, Rejuvenated By "Tex" Rickard, Houses Throng Of 12,000 Gathered For First Swatfest Held In New York For More Than Three Years

Professional boxing in New York came back under auspicious circumstances last month at Madison Square Garden, where the first legalised bouts to be held in the metropolis in three years and the first bouts to a decision in twenty years, were conducted under the auspices of the Madison Square Garden Sportsman Club.

A card of four bouts, in which some of the leading boxers of the country participated, attracted a crowd of about 12,000 to the famous old arena. As if in keeping with the significant occasion, the bouts excelled the standard of recent years and provided plenty of interesting entertainment for the crowd which filled the Garden.

Particularly was the work of the boxers above the ordinary in the matches which preceded the main bout between Johnny Dundee and Joe Welling. Never an idle moment was experienced from the time the opening six rounder started to the familiar cry, "They're off" until the gong clanged on the last round of the stellar attraction.

The main event, which was the first fifteen-round bout fought in New York since the days of the Horton law, resulted in a victory for Welling over Dundee, the judges agreeing that Welling was the victor. It was a fast and interesting battle from start to finish.

EVERY SEAT FILLED

A typical Garden crowd witnessed the bouts. Every seat was occupied long before the principals in the first of the important bouts entered the ring. It seemed that everybody wanted to have some personal part in the event which made history.

From early in the evening long queues of hungry fight fans, anxious to enjoy their favorite sport after a period of inactivity which extended over three long years, made their way to the arena. Not until the principal bout was in the ring did the steady stream of inflowing humanity cease.

When Dundee and Welling took their corners the interior of the famous old arena was aflutter with an animated, densely packed mass, whose thunderous applause, sustained from the opening bout, shook the foundation of the building.

"GOODS" OUT EARLY

The gallery gods, that peculiar species of fight fan who stands long hours in a seemingly never ending line, waiting for the lower priced tickets and a chance to slide into a seat, were out early. From the time the Garden doors were opened at 6 o'clock until the allotted supply of cheaper seats was exhausted they came in steady streams, filling up the ceiling seats rapidly.

The reserved seat holders began arriving in dense lines by 7:30 and experienced the pleasant sensation of being courteously escorted to their seats by sturdy lads whose distinctive white caps marked them as trained ushers. Many fashionably gowned women were conspicuous in the big boxing turnout and enjoyed the contests as much as their male escorts.

GARDEN GREATLY IMPROVED

It was quite a different Madison Square Garden which the veteran fan entered on this auspicious occasion. Promoter Tex Rickard lavished $18,000 on improvements, which completely transformed the interior. The walls were freshly painted, as were the boxes overlooking the arena.

Highly polished chairs were carefully placed over the entire floor space and the frail fences which in the past marked off "ringside boxes" were conspicuously missing. The balconies were gayly decorated in the national colors.

Commissioners Laurence Maguire, Joseph Johnson, Edward W. Ditmars, Walter Hook and Senator James J. Walker, father of the law, were interested spectators and early arrivals. The men intrusted with the supervision of the sport were united in their praise of the conditions under which the bouts were held.

The Garden was carefully policed to prevent any of the disorders which were frequently in evidence under the Frawley law. Fifteen Central Office men held vantage points about the arena and carefully dismissed enterprising pickpockets and other undesirables who sought admission.

DEMPSEY MEETS RIVAL

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Georges Carpentier, European contender, met personally for the first time just before the main bout. The fistic leaders of two continents entered the ring shortly after Dundee and Welling and while the gloves were being adjusted on the boxers in the main bout were introduced by Announcer Humphries.

The two made an imposing spectacle standing chatting in the ring, obviously unconcerned with the tumult their presence aroused among the crowd. Cheers shook the roof of the Garden from the time they first stepped inside the ropes until the ceremony ended with a picture in which Promoter Tex Rickard posed between the two gladiators.

Dempsey To Meet Brennan Tonight

Tonight, in Madison Square Garden, Champion Jack Dempsey is scheduled to meet "Wild Bill" Brennan in a 15-round boxing contest, with the title at stake.

Brennan boasts (and Dempsey's manager admits) a decision over the champion, gained about a year before "Our Jack" won the title from Willard.

Georges Carpentier, the famous French light-heavyweight who is booked to tangle with Dempsey in the Garden sometime in December, is expected to be an interested ringside spectator.

Dempsey is a forbidding favorite in the betting on tonight's encounter.

MEETING PLANS REORGANISATION OF CHESS CLUB

Gathering In Rooms Of Thirty Club Decides To Seek New Members

Plans to reorganise and increase the membership of the International Chess Club were set in motion last night at a well attended meeting that was held at the club rooms of the Thirty Club. Many past and present members, besides a number interested in chess, were present.

An outline of the history of the organisation was given in an address by Mr. W. B. Lockhart, one of the founders of the club who was called upon to speak by Mr. G. O. Jackson, Secretary of the club.

CLUB IS UNIQUE

Mr. Lockhart spoke of the original organisation that was established in the French Concession fifteen years ago saying that the club was at that time and still is the only club in Shanghai which draws no distinction of nationality, race, class or condition of life. He added that chess was a game in which all could take part.

Mr. Lockhart said that the club in its first year enrolled 120 members, but added that the total decreased in the period of the war. He expressed the hope that a revival of inferest in the organization would shortly bring the membership to 150 or more and he suggested that as the American community is growing rapidly, more Americans should be asked to join.

MR. JACKSON SPEAKS

Mr. Jackson spoke briefly saying the club at this time held two shields, one presented by an old member, Sir Havilland de Sausmarez that had been competed for by teams representing three nationalities and now held by the British team. Mr. P. C. de Souza, who had held the individual championship several years, he said, held the other shield. Both shields, he explained would be competed for in future.

On suggestion of Mr. G. O. Wootten, seconded by Mr. G. H. Kortright it was decided to arrange to hold a general meeting at which reorganisation would be worked out and new members welcomed. A vote of thanks was given to the Thirty Club for the use of their premises.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAMS IN AMERICA MAKE READY FOR HARD "GRID" SEASON

Players Weeded From Big Squads Of Candidates Line Up In Practice Scrimmages Against Second Elevens—News From Eastern Training Camps

By "Right Tackle"

News of the preliminary doings of the big-college football teams of the eastern United States continues to fill the sporting pages of the American newspapers recently arrived in Shanghai.

These teams are now fairly well along on their 1920 season schedules, and probably beginning to take final form for the more important contests of the year, most of which will be played next month.

Realising that there are many American collegians numbered among the foreign-dwellers in China, THE CHINA PRESS is making an effort to give this part of its readers a line on how the various teams are shaping up.

Tomorrow, on this page, the distinguished ex-Chicago quarterback, Walter Eckersall, will discuss an important phase of the football situation in the Middle West. A little later an equally well-informed expert will review the Pacific Coast prospects and performances.

As time goes on it is hoped that we will be able to give the American football fans the results of the big games with only slight delay. Following are reports from some of the latest papers received here:

PRINCETON AT WORK

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 17.—Keene Fitzpatrick put the Princeton football squad through two sessions today. The morning period was devoted to blackboard work and an explanation of the rules by the members of the coaching staff, while the regular three-hour drill was held as usual this afternoon.

The tackling dummy made its first appearance on University Field today, and all hands were given long exercise in hurling themselves at the sawdust figure. Charging featured the work of the line men, the guards receiving especial attention from Hack McCraw and Captain Callahan.

Only two members of the Tiger coaching staff were missing this afternoon. Head Coach Roper and Billy Moore were the two absentees. Roper was detained again in Philadelphia last night, but expects to reach Princeton in time to take over the squad at morning practice tomorrow. Moore is expected in from Europe this week. Frank Click, Maury Trimble and Nat Poe are the backfield staff. Poe has been selected to take over the scrub when that unfortunate body is chosen. Hack McGraw, Puwey Bigler, Red Gennert and George Funk are looking after the line, and Jack Winn is in charge of the ends. Gennert, Funk and Moore will take over the freshman team when the yearlings report on Sept. 28, but for the present are devoting their services to the Varsity.

YALE HEADS LINE

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 17.—Yale football players today held the first scrimmages of the year, when Captain Jack Cutler's scrubs tackled the first and second 'Varsity elevens for twenty minutes each. In the scrimmage between the scrubs and second 'Varsity, Captain Cutler, who was playing quarterback, wrenched his knee and was replaced by Jones. The first eleven scrimmage resulted in a single touchdown for the 'Varsity.

In the scrimmage between the scrubs and the second 'Varsity the scrubs scored when Dave Saunders intercepted a forward pass in the center of the field and ran fifty yards through a broken field for a touchdown. No trial for goal was made. There was little fumbling.

The line-up:

Players To Wear Numbers In Harvard-Yale Football Game

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 17.—The football players of Harvard and Yale probably will be numbered for the first time when they meet in their annual game in the Yale Bowl on November 20. Fred W. Morre, graduate manager of athletics at Harvard, said today that use of the identification system was likely this year.

With Harvard and Yale joining in the movement, the long battle for the numbering of players may be regarded as won by those advocates of the system who have been clamoring for numbers for years past. Princeton announced its willingness to number players some years ago, but with Harvard and Yale declining to take a stand in favor of the plan some other colleges declined. It seems likely now that the entire intercollegiate football group will be a unit on the numbering system in future seasons.

HARVARD HAS SCRIMMAGE

Cambridge Mass., Sept. 17.—Harvard's 'Varsity football players closed their second week of preliminary drill today with the first scrimmages of the season. This, however, was not between the 'Varsity and the scrubs but was held for the forty members of the first squad, which was divided into three elevens. Previous to the scrimmage the coaches had the three teams running through signals but no attempt was made to choose any combination calculated to stand as the strongest on the field. The veterans were mixed in pretty much with the newcomers, Captain Horween playing with the third squad wearing a white shirt over his crimson jersey. Horween remained in the play during every moment of the brisk twenty-minute scrimmage.

Sam Felton, the 'Varsity kicker of the 1910 team, came out to coach the punters, being the only instructor besides the usual staff.

The three teams were arranged as follows:

Third—De Jonge and Eastern, end; Lee and Selden, tackles; Holmes and Olmsted, guards; Kelly, center; Buell, quarter, and Horween, Churchill and Angier, backs.

CORNELL'S BIG SQUAD

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 17.—A squad of some seventy candidates for the Cornell football team has responded to the call of the new coach, Gilmour Dobie, and Schoellkopf Field is throbbing with activity both mornings and afternoon as the usual preliminary practice in the fundamentals gets well under way. By the first of next week it is hoped that upward of one hundred men will be actively seeking places on Cornell's eleven, and Dobie will not close the list of entries at least until the university opens late this months. An effort is to be made to get out every possible candidate this year.

Practice so far has consisted of thorough drilling in the usual fundamentals, punting, passing, falling on the ball, tackling the dummy and pushing the bucking machine.

The schedule consists of eight games, among the more attractive being the annual contest with Dartmouth at the Polo Grounds in New York, the annual Penn game at Philadelphia, and home games with Colgate, Columbia and Rutgers.

PENN STATE ACTIVE

State College, Pa., Sept. 17.—Charlie Way, Penn State's sensational open field runner, started in a new role in scrimmage today, this time in a defensive one. Playing on the secondary defense, Charlie's tackling was one of the features of the practice session. Joe Lightner is another man who looked good today. Hinkie Haines will be out of practice for a few days with a bruised muscle in his back.

Farley, the Swarthmore boy, has been showing up particularly well at tackle on the second team, and it is likely that Bezdek will try him out on the 'Varsity line. Farley, who is the Blue and White heavyweight wrestler, has been plugging along for three years and he may solve one of Bezdek's line problems.

W. AND J. EASES DOWN

Washington, Pa., Sept. 17.—With the two practices a day regime nearing an end, the Washington. Jefferson football squad is being driven rather strenuously by Coaches Morrow and Fleming. Next Wednesday college will open, and thereafter there will be only one workout a day. The preliminary training has been remarkably free thus far of serious injuries.

Russell Stein, W. and J.'s brilliant tackle and logical contender for all-American honors is rapidly recovering from his injury. Captain Garbisch, Elmer Carroll, George Templeton, who will probably be played at tackle; Loucks, Eielson and Erickson, 'Varsity veterans, are all showing their 1919 ability. Jim Aiken, the slender but speedy end, end Browning and Vince, who were on the 1919 squad, are also showing good form.

the champion. But I realise now that I wasn't.

"I am not trying to boost Jack Dempsey when I say he is a wonderful ring man. For any one who can fight as he can needs no boosting. Jack is the hardest hitter that I ever met in the ring, and I'll go a little better there by stating that I think he is the greatest two-fisted hitter that ever pulled on a pair of mitts.

DIDN'T THINK IT

"No fighter I ever faced, until I met Dempsey at Benton Harbor, was able to jolt me off my feet. They weren't even able to damage me to any serious extent, so naturally I didn't believe that Dempsey could do what no other scrapper had done.

"But what did Dempsey do? He pegged me under the heart with a straight right-hand wallop in the second round of our bout and raised me completely off my feet. When I came to the end of the ride that punch had started me on I was sitting on the floor of the ring. The first knock-down of my career from a punch on the body. It was hard to understand.

"But that wasn't all, by a long way. When he popped me on the chin with that right cross in the third round that knocked me out and ended an unpleasant afternoon, I never knew what hit me, it came so hard. I hate even to think how hard it was. Can he punch? Well, take it from me, no one ever punched so hard."

NEED NOT WORRY

Those folks familiar with pugilism who had an idea that Dempsey wasn't in his best condition when he fought Miske, needn't worry. A man with the punching ability that Dempsey possesses doesn't need to be in tiptop form. He could trim most of them with one hand tied behind him.

Yes, it is a most unpleasant situation that confronts these fellows who would like to take the title away from Jack Dempsey.

GOOD LUCK, MR. REED

Mr. Harold G. Reed, who is leaving on Thursday for Amoy to take up his new appointment as Secretary to the Municipal Council at that port, carries with him the best wishes of many friends in Shanghai. A prominent figure both in the athletic and social world he will be very much missed during the coming winter season, especially in connection with the very fine concerts at the Hanbury Institute for the Missions to Seamen, with which he was closely connected.

So little trouble, too

Once or twice a week, according to the rapidity with which your cuticle grows, dip the end of an orange stick, wrapped with absorbent cotton, into your bottle of Cutex and work it gently around the base of each nail, gently pressing back the cuticle. Carefully rinse the fingers in clear water, pressing back the cuticle as you dry your hands.

Thousands and thousands of women would tell you that in half the time it takes for the ordinary manicure, they can, with Cutex, keep their nails always in noticeably lovely condition. Use Cutex regularly, and you, too, will find that it does away entirely with the cuticle cutting and trimming that ruin the appearance of your nails.

Shopkeepers Raise Funds To Aid Region Hit By Famine

has been the leader in the movement. He recently issued invitations to all the religious, educational and commercial bodies in the city to co-operate in the work and at an inaugural meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. on October 14 there were present representatives of the American Presbyterian Mission, American Baptist Mission, the Church Mission, English Methodist Mission, the Educational Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Teachers' Association, the Christian Fellowship Club, the various Middle schools and the foreign firms. In addition, the Lawyers' Association and the Doctors' Association, though not represented at the meeting, have manifested their interest in the movement and will probably take part.

SIX TEAMS NAMED

It was decided that the first period of the campaign should last for two weeks, beginning October 17 and closing with the end of the month and six divisional teams were designated to put the campaign into operation, these representing: the six missions and churches of Ningpo and district; the Teachers' Association and the Middle schools; the Educational Association and the Primary schools; Chinese business men; foreign business men; the Christian Fellowship Club and the Women's Club. At a subsequent meeting another team, to represent the local manufacturers, was formed and indications are that still other organisations will join.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The following were elected to serve on the Executive committee: honorary chairman, the Taoyin, Mr. Wong, and the British Consul, Mr. J. O. Davidson; chairman, Mr. Thomas Tchou; vice-chairman, the Rev. T. Gaunt; secretaries, the Rev. E. M. Smith and Mr. Vaen; treasurers, the Rev. F. R. Millican, Mr. Tsu Su-tsong and Mr. Fee Mien-ching; publicity committee, Mr. Y. C. Hu, Mr. Wong Ping-seng and Mr. H. S. Redfern.

The proceeds will be sent to the different famine stricken areas at the close of each campaign in proportions to be determined by the committee and foreign subscribers have been requested to send their contributions to Mr. Lucas, who has undertaken to circulate a subscription list, or to the treasurer, Mr. Millican.

NANYANG STUDENTS ACTIVE

Students of Nanyang College have built their subscription list for famine relief up to $700. Of this sum $500 was subscribed by members of the faculty and staff. Former President Tang Wan-tche contributing $300. At a moving picture show given last Friday $150 was given. To obtain further funds the Students' Union in the college has planned a campaign to be conducted by fourteen teams of workers. The campaign will close on October 26 and it is expected to swell the fund by $1,000. The total contributions from the college will exceed $2,000 according to present indications.

JAPANESE ARE ACTIVE

The Japanese Committee for Relief of Famine in North China, which was organised in Shanghai some time ago, has had several meetings recently, and has decided to raise a relief fund from the local Japanese community in addition to the funds already subscribed by Japanese firms.

Famine And Public Works

From north Honan comes a further pertinent recommendation regarding the establishment of public works, by way of highway improvements, to assure the double benefit of relieving famine conditions and accomplish at the same time much needed betterment of transportation facilities. The following communication from a Changtefu correspondent tells of steps already taken to bring the proposal forward:

(China Press Correspondence)

Sir:—At a recent meeting of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission to which is left, by the consent of all surrounding evangelical missions, the exclusive occupation of the whole northern end of Honan Province cut off by the Yellow River, the question of public works for famine relief was very carefully considered.

Exclusive of other projects, over 400 li (133 miles) of roads in north Honan were considered as specially calling for construction work because of their bad condition. And among these the section from the city of Hantan in Chihli Province (on the Peking-Hankow Railway) to the city of Wuan in Honan Province was placed first as demanding immediate attention, both on account of its being the worst road in the whole countryside and also on account of the depth of the distress which famine has brought to the population in that region.

IMPORTANT POINTS TOLD

Attention is called to the following points connected with the projected road:

1. Its importance.—Hantan city is an important point of departure for travellers and goods going from the Peking-Hankow Railway to southern Shansi, as also for caravans passing through Honan from Shansi to the waterways of southwestern Chihli. The construction of the road from Wuan to Hantan would immensely facilitate traffic on a very important travel route; and the benefit would be still more pronounced were the road to be continued still farther eastward to a good shipping point on the Wei River which connects with the Grand Canal.

2. Its present condition.—At present rains make almost impassable quagmires of large sections of the road in the vicinity of both the terminals mentioned; and especially at the Hantan end where the land is more flat and low-lying. The central section, on the other hand, crosses a low ridge of rocky land and is so filled with great boulders and so precipitous in places that it is a constant marvel how the pack-animals, which have to travel by night as well as by day, ever manage to get through it. Not infrequently the breakdown of a heavily laden barrow or other conveyance in a narrow defile completely blocks traffic for hours together.

SURVEY ALREADY MADE

3. Preliminary survey.—Two graduate civil engineers of the Canadian Mission have, with others, recently gone carefully over the whole route. These men have come to the unanimous conclusion that an expenditure of between $80,000 and $100,000 would make a thoroughly good roadway and would be amply justified. The amount named would construct a good road, macadamised on its clay sections and properly graded and widened on its rocky portions. The fact that stone, so difficult to secure on these China plains, is easily available in any quantity over more than half the route makes this road proposition a very attractive one to road-builders. Every part of the work can be done by Chinese workmen with their own implements assuring employment to thousands of willing workers in a badly stricken famine region for months to come. If the work can begin soon all those portions which would normally be hindered by the advent of winter can be finished before heavy frosts come on. On other sections of the road work can go on all winter.

4. What is proposed.—The engineers are of opinion that it would be very unwise to have the new road follow the course of the old one in all places. At present it runs for miles in deep gullies, worn by centuries of erosion, where the rush of water during heavy rains will always make it impossible to maintain a good road. They recommend the securing of a new roadway in certain places, at both ends of the route. This change would not only furnish a protection against such dangers, but would also avoid all but one of the river courses which now cross and recross the road between the two terminal points. At one point in the Honan section where, during heavy rains, there rushes a torrent from ten to fifteen feet deep, a stone bridge costing about $8,000.00 will have to be built. But this is, of course, included in the total estimate of $100,000.00.

CHINESE OFFICALS APPROVE

At Wuan the Chinese officials and gentry have with the missionaries formed a Union Committee for the oversight of this and other measures of famine relief. The Chinese heartily and emphatically approve of the road proposition and are ready to prove their interest by themselves paying for the new roadsite in whatever places on the Honan end the engineers recommend such to be secured.

5. What is yet needed.—The Honan section of the proposed road does not exceed 25 li in length, while the section in Chihli province is nominally 35 li. But the new bridge required on the Honan section will make the financial outlay in each province about the same. The normal method of procedure would seem to be to appeal for half the total amount in each province, and to this the Honan Famine Relief Committee in Kaifeng, of which the writer is a member, would probably be sympathetic as soon as funds permit. But the fact that this is an inter-provincial road and that the double negotiations necessitated by that fact would lose precious days in the most favorable work season, when thousands of men might be busy, makes it a peculiarly appropriate object for the generous gift of some ONE society or association engaged in famine relief.

Methods of management and work have been thought out in detail by a very competent and practical committee, and only funds are needed to enable work to begin at once. Provision is made for the careful handling of all monies and the auditing of all accounts.

If the Chinese can furnish engineers, all the better. If not, the engineers of the Canadian Mission are prepared to give their services free and to begin an accurate survey on three days' notice, in the hope not only of relieving famine conditions but also of laying down a permanent object lesson on good road-making in a part of this country where such a thing has never before been known.

JOHN GRIFFITH.

Mr. And Mrs. Crane Speak On Famine Work At Meeting Of American Woman's Club

Mr. Charles R. Crane, American Minister, and Mrs. Crane both spoke at yesterday's meeting of the American Woman's Club at the Carlton Cafe. Admiral Albert Gleaves commanding the American Asiatic Squadron, with his staff attended the meeting which was concluded with an address by Dr. W. W. Peter of the Council on Health Education.

The famine relief work in China was the subject dealt with by Mr. and Mrs. Crane, and after he had been introduced to the big gathering of members of the club by the President, Mrs. C. S. Lobingier, the American Minister told in particular of the relief work being carried forward at the Capital.

DAWN OF CIVILISATION

Mr. Crane told his hearers that the earliest civilisation went back to the people of the valley of the Yellow River where today the famine has come, explaining that the first ideas about agriculture and production of other products came from this part of the world and travelled westward along lines of latitude.

The speaker said these ideas became modified and were enlarged as they progressed around the world and how new knowledge gained now enables the western world to use the acquired knowledge in giving help to China to which so much is owed.

Mr. Crane referred to former national disasters, telling that in ancient times a great Chinese engineer arose who worked out a system of public works designed to avert disaster from floods, and he added that in recent years a great American engineer, John R. Freeman, after completing his vast work at Panama, dedicated the remaining years of his life to a work in China to devise a plan to avert floods that swept the country and brought famine in their wake.

LATER WORK

Later, the speaker said, the American Red Cross interested itself in vast public works designed to prevent destruction of crops from floods and so avert famines and sent engineers who prepared extensive plans for improvement works.

Mr. Crane intimated that some of these works are now to be carried out, saying the Red Cross had appropriated the sum of $500,000 and had set about the task of doing a work of improvement in building highways and canals to meet the present crisis.

Dealing with the work now going forward Mr. Crane spoke highly of the spirit animating the relief organisation that has been formed at Peking. He said the various foreign communities had each held meetings and each had named two members to serve on a central relief committee that has been at work for some weeks under the able direction of Dr. G. D. Gray as Chairman. He spoke of methods followed in unifying the work and of methods being followed, repeating some of the things he told the members of the Shanghai famine relief committee the preceding day, as reported in The China Press.

MRS. CRANE SPEAKS

In her brief address Mrs. Crane spoke of what the American Red Cross had been doing in Peking in connection with the famine relief work and added the organisation at the Capital was particularly anxious to co-operate with work being done here, suggesting that clothes and supplies were needed.

On behalf of the Executive Committee Mrs. F. R. Sites, former President of the Club, extended thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Crane and she presented to Mrs. Crane a copy of the recently published Annual of the American Woman's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane were obliged to leave the meeting early in order to meet their daughter, Mrs. Bradley, who arrived on the steamer Nanking, after which Doctor Peter delivered his interesting address on the subject "How Life Begins."

Doctor Peter's address was illustrated with moving pictures which showed various forms of plant and animal life in the process of formation and development.

New Trans-Pacific Liner To Come Out Next Year Is Last Word In Luxury

Canadian Pacific Steamer Empress Of Canada Will Be Biggest In Far Eastern Service; Starting On World Tour In March

Further details regarding the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services' giant new Pacific liner, the Empress of Canada, which goes into service early next year, have been received at the local offices of the company, giving a comprehensive picture of the luxurious accommodations which the new ship will afford.

The Empress of Canada was launched by the Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Co., Ltd. at Govan, Glasgow, on August 17. The vessel is the largest yet built by the Fairfield company and will be the largest plying across the Pacific. The ship is a twin-screw geared turbine liner, her principal dimensions being as follows:

Length over all	653' 0"
Breadth	77' 9"
Depth to Bridge Deck	53' 6"
Gross Tonnage	about 22,000 tons.
Sea speed	18 knots.

Spacious and well fitted accommodation has been provided for about 500 first class, 100 second class, 240 third class, and 930 Asiatic steerage passengers; also for about 550 of a crew.

LUXURIOUS ACCOMMODATION

The first class accommodation is arranged on "B" deck in large staterooms for one, two and three persons, also on "C" deck in rooms for two, three and four persons. In addition there is a number of private suites comprising sitting room, bedroom and bathroom, also special rooms with bathrooms and rooms with private toilets.

The first class dining saloon is situated on "D" deck amidships and will accommodate 307 persons at one sitting, the tables being arranged for small parties of two, four or six people. It is approached from the reception room and the general scheme is Georgian in character.

The reception room, situated forward of this dining saloon on "D" deck, has been designed to give a large open space suitable for dancing, the floor having an area of over 300 superficial feet laid with oak parquet. A handsome main stairway with passenger elevator embodied, is arranged at the fore end of this room.

On "A" deck the main stairway opens into the long gallery, which has been made a feature of this ship, as it gives access to all the principal first class public rooms. This gallery is about 110 feet long and 13 feet wide and the sides will be panelled in polished Honduras mahogany and hung with choice prints. It will be amply lighted by large windows on one side.

At the forward end of this long gallery is the first class lounge. This room will be utilised for concerts and also for modern moving-picture exhibitions, the moving-picture operating room having been arranged for at the forward end. At the after end of the long gallery is situated the first class smoke room, which is panelled in oak.

Opening also off the long gallery there are the first class card room, drawing room, writing room and children's room, all suitably decorated.

CHILDDEN'S ROOM FEATURE

The scheme of decoration for children's room is to be particularly elaborate, involving a wall scheme illustrating all the popular nursery rhymes.

At the after end of "A" deck and opening out of the first class smoke room, is the verandah cafe, which is in oak half timbered design.

A large swimming pool, about 30 feet long, 18 feet wide, and a maximum depth of 8 feet, has been arranged for on "D" deck forward of the reception room. On one side there are arranged dressing rooms and the swimming pool space has a marble dado with tile filling above, subdivided by marble pilasters. A large gymnasium, fitted with the most modern gymnastic appliances, is arranged next to, and communicating with the swimming pool.

The decoration and furnishing of all these public rooms has been arranged with great care, and embody all the latest details for the comfort and convenience of the passengers. Electric heaters are fitted in most of these rooms. The whole of the decorative work has been specially designed for this vessel by Messrs. George Crawley & Partners, of London and Glasgow.

Extensive promenade space for the first class passengers is provided on the boat deck and "A" deck.

The second class accommodation is arranged on "C" deck aft in staterooms for two and four persons. The dining saloon for second class is on "D" deck, accommodating 100 persons, and a large lounge has been provided on "B" deck aft. Ample promenading space is arranged.

The third class are accommodated on "D" deck and "E" deck, in rooms of two, four and six. They have a dining saloon on "D" deck aft, accommodating 100 persons. Promenade space for third class is also provided for.

The Asiatic steerage is arranged in open berths in large compartments on "C" "D" and "E" decks.

MANY CONVENIENCES

In addition to the foregoing, the vessel is fully equipped with a laundry, dispensary, hospitals, information bureau, barber's shop, etc., and also a manicurist and stenographer.

The kitchens, pantries, bakery, etc., for the first, second and third class are situated amidships on "D" deck between the dining saloons, thus ensuring a quick and efficient service. All the latest improvements have been supplied, and these spaces are equipped in the most up-to-date fashion. Separate kitchens are provided in a different part of the ship for the Asiatic steerage and crew.

The vessel is ventilated and heated by the thermotank system and by means of steam and electric radiators. All the supply and exhaust fans are capable of changing the air in the compartments to which they are connected a sufficient number of times per hour to insure a continuous supply of pure air. The thermotanks and fans are also fitted with an approved disinfecting apparatus.

The 'tween decks are sub-divided by special fireproof bulkheads, to prevent the spread of fire, and chemical fire extinguishers are fitted throughout the passenger accommodation, in addition to the usual hydrants and hoses. A complete system of automatic fire alarms is fitted throughout the ship.

Lifeboats more than sufficient to accommodate all passengers and crew have been provided.

The watertight bulkhead doors are operated by the Brunton Bros. hydraulic system which has proved so successful in other of the company's ships, and are all controlled from the navigating bridge.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM

A telephone system with central exchange has been arranged.

A complete system of wireless telegraphy, submarine signalling and electric clocks has been fitted, also a gyro compass.

Throughout the vessel special attention is everywhere given to the fact that the Empress of Canada is to serve in a semi-tropical climate; public rooms and private apartments are, therefore, large and airy, and the ventilation amply and sufficiently arranged.

The ship will be propelled by two sets of Brown-Curtis turbines, driving twin-screws through double reduction gearing.

The propelling machinery is the largest installation of double reduction gearing which, so far, has been constructed.

The boiler installation comprises eight double-ended and four single-ended cylindrical return-tube boilers, arranged in two separate boiler compartments, and designed to burn oil fuel in combination with the Howden system of forced draught. There is a complete duplicate system, in each boiler room, of oil fuel pumps, heaters and fittings for supplying oil to the furnaces, and provision has been made for readily converting the boilers so that they may burn coal at a later date if required. The fire extinguishing apparatus is of a most up-to-date pattern.

The design of the vessel was prepared by Mr. Hugh MacDonald, naval architect to the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, Ltd., and she has been built under the supervision of the owners' consulting naval architects, Messrs. J. H. Biles & Co., of London and Glasgow.

TO MAKE WORLD TOUR

After completion the Empress of Canada will make a world tour on her way to Vancouver, passengers traveling by Canadian Pacific round the globe. The ship is scheduled to leave Liverpool in March, 1921, and will proceed via Gibraltar, Monaco, Naples, Suez—through the Red Sea to Bombay, Colombo, Singapore, Batavia, Manila, Hongkong, Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama, thence to Vancouver, her home port, where a special train will carry the passengers across Canada for those who are returning to the United States or Europe. At each port time will be given for visits to important places of interest within easy distance, and arrangements will be made to enable travelers to spend their time to the best advantage.

Lecture On Wireless At Y.M.C.A. Today For School Children

This week at the Y. M. C. A. Professor Robertson, of the lecture department of the National Committee is giving to various groups of students, merchants and officials his lecture on the wireless telegraph and telephone. The first lecture was on Monday afternoon when about 200 leading foreigners and Chinese had a preliminary lecture. The Chinese officials were present or sent representatives and among the foreigners were those who have charge of the local wireless stations. On yesterday afternoon 900 students from local middle schools heard the lecture. Last night the hall was well filled with representatives from the local railway, telegraph, customs and steamship companies. Dr. W. P. Lo, of the Shanghai Nanking Railway presided.

This afternoon the students from the Shanghai Municipal Schools for Chinese will hear the lecture and in the evening it will be enjoyed by the members.

While the lecture deals with the technicalities of the subject, yet the speaker has been able to simplify the demonstration to such an extent that any older student of middle schools can understand.

Wireless telegraph messages are received from local stations and wireless telephone messages came in from the sending apparatus located in the lobby of the building some 60 feet from the receiving apparatus on the platform from which it is magnified and heard by the audience. It was a cause of wonderment that the message could come in this way through the walls of the building without the use of a wire. That the invention could carry Chinese as well as foreign messages was shown by the sending of a Chinese song, greatly enjoyed by the audience.

To Foreign Exporters

GENTLEMEN,

As you know, the members of our Association by their contracts for delivery of Liquid Egg and Liquid Yolk are at present responsible for good quality of goods up to within four months from date of shipment from Shanghai.

During the past years so many claims have been made upon our members as to bad quality of Liquid Egg and Liquid Yolk, though shipped in good condition from Shanghai, that they lost large sums in paying such claims; in many cases, claims were double the contract price.

As we do not care to go into the question as to whether the large increase in the number and amount of claims made may not have some relation to violent fluctuations in exchange and fall in prices, the Association, on behalf of its members, instruct me to inform exporters that on all contracts for goods to be delivered on or after January 1st, 1921, no claim will be recognised by the sellers on goods which have been accepted by the buyers prior to shipment.

Cheng Rubber Estates Meeting

The Cheng Rubber Estates, Ltd., held its tenth annual general meeting yesterday afternoon at the office of its secretaries, Messrs. J. A. Wattie and Co. Ltd. In the absence of the chairman, Mr. A. K. Craddock, director, presided.

There were also present Father Castillo, Dr. R. S. Ivy, Mr. A. J. Welch, Mr. J. A. Sudka, Mr. Zellensky and other shareholders. The total number of shares represented at the meeting was 16,285.

The secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the acting chairman said as follows:

Owing to the absence of our chairman, Mr. Osborne, I am acting in his stead.

Before proceeding with the ordinary business of the meeting I wish to express the regret of the directors at the loss the board has sustained by the death of the late Mr. E. Jenner Hogg.

Mr. Hogg joined the board in December, 1915, and up to the time of his death, during February of this year, took the greatest interest in the welfare of the company.

The accounts and directors' report have been in your hands for some time and with your permission I will take them as read.

The working of the year under review resulted in a net profit of Tls. 21,929.77 which must be considered satisfactory.

Owing to the recent serious fall in the price of rubber the matter of keeping funds on hand to meet any eventuality that may arise has had the serious attention of the board.

As you are probably aware the Rubber Planters Association of Malaya, after consultation with the Rubber Grower's Association, London, recently issued a circular recommending that half of estates, should be tapped on alternate days, so as to reduce output by 25 percent with a view to lessen the accumulation of stocks. The current requirements of the world, it is stated, are considerably below the normal owing to financial, political and labor difficulties, but it is clear that eventually demand will again overtake supply. In the meantime however, stocks are accumulating to a large extent, and the obvious remedy is temporary restriction of output.

Your directors have approved of the recommendation, and alternate day tapping has been introduced on certain areas. This will naturally reduce our output and unless prices improve, our estimated income will also be smaller, under the circumstances your directors do not consider it advisable to pay a dividend for the year, but recommend that the balance of profit and loss account Tls. 34,730.13 as shown by the accounts be dealt with as follows:

	Tls.
To write off development account	3,991.39
To write off buildings account	7,092.62
To carry forward to next year's account	23,646.12
	Tls. 34,730.13

and I shall propose a resolution to this effect later.

The amount carried forward to next year is fully covered by liquid assets.

The average exchange at which the accounts under review were made up was 35⅛, and for rubber in stock, etc., 44⅝, against 45¾ and 45 for last year.

Turning to the directors' report, you will note that the cost of production shows an increase over that of the previous two years, due principally to loss on rice issued to the coolies which amounted to $5,249.95, and loss on planting foodstuffs $1,194.77.

As mentioned from the chair at the last annual general meeting, the planting of foodstuffs was made compulsory under government instructions, and I regret to say that, as far as Malacca was concerned, proved to be a complete failure.

General charges have increased about ½d. per lb. owing to increase in costs of various items, that of recruiting expenses as mentioned in the report being an example.

The all-in-cost shows an increase of about 2¼d. per lb. over that of last year, against which we have an increase of over 7¼d. in the price realised, compared to that of the previous year.

The estimate for the current year is given in the report as 250,000 lbs. but owing to certain developments that have recently taken place with regard to restriction of output, we have now been advised that this figure will have to be considerably modified, it is hoped that the effect of reducing the output of estates will be to materially increase the price obtainable for the product.

Forward sales.—The company has enjoyed the benefit of the following forward sales: 2 tons smoked sheet delivery monthly ex warehouse, Singapore, for the whole of 1920 at 1s. 11d. per lb. 2 tons smoked sheet delivery monthly at Singapore during March and April at 111 cents per lb.

Area.—You will have noticed from the report that the area under rubber is 794 acres instead of 810 acres given in previous reports.

The chairman in his speech at the annual general meeting held on October 23, 1913, informed the shareholders present that a lot of 16 acres was held on lease from Mr. Tan Chay-yan to expire during May, 1920, and that in case it would not be possible to come to terms for an extension of the lease after May, 1920 the company had acquired a block of 35½ acres from the government to replace the area under lease. The block after survey proved to be 40 acres and was duly planted up.

Well, Gentlemen, Mr. Tan Chay-yan died a few years ago and his heirs refused to renew the lease, and we had perforce to give up the 16 acres. The surrender of this area makes a difference of probably about 500 lbs. of rubber per month in the output of the estate.

The shortage of labor caused at one time during the year some inconvenience, an improvement in the number of coolies arriving lately from the coast is noted.

Attempts have been made to popularise Cheng Estate among Tamils by providing a temple and a school with an annex for theatrical performances.

Buildings.—All buildings and machinery are in a good state of repair. Our program for the current year embraces a hospital and dispensary at an estimated cost of $1,400.00.

During last August Messrs. Wilde and Co., Ltd. Ipoh were appointed visiting agents to the estates, and their first report has recently been received. It mentions that owing to deep tapping in the past, bark consumption was excessive, otherwise the report is satisfactory.

Your directors are anxious to acknowledge the good work of the assistant, Mr. Harland, and of the subordinate staff by granting them a bonus, the amount of which I trust you will as usual leave to the discretion of the board.

The present unsatisfactory state of the rubber market is a matter of common knowledge to everybody interested in rubber, and until the outlook improves it is difficult to forecast the prospects and how the future will affect this company, but we can only hope that during the coming year some improvement will take place and thereby benefit our position which I think you will agree with me is so far quite satisfactory.

There seems nothing more for me to comment upon, the detailed report in your hands covers almost all there is to be said.

To comply with the new order in council the secretaryship of the company was transferred to Messrs. J. A. Wattie and Co., Ltd. on March 1.

Before putting the various resolutions to the meeting I shall be pleased to answer any questions regarding Estate matters to the best of my ability.

No questions being asked, the following resolutions were unanimously passed:

That the directors' report and statement of accounts for the year ended June 30, 1920 as presented and the disposal of the balance at credit of profit and loss account as recommended be adopted and passed.—Proposed by Mr. A. K. Craddock and seconded by Dr. R. S. Ivy.

That Mr. J. H. Osborne be re-elected a director of the company. Proposed by the Rev. Father Castrillo and seconded by Dr. R. S. Ivy.

That the appointment of Mr. A. K. Craddock and Mr. A. J. Welch as directors of the company be confirmed. Proposed by the Rev. Father Castrillo and seconded by Mr. J. A. Sudka.

That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected auditors of the company for the ensuing year at a fee of Tls. 200.00 for auditing the books of the company at Singapore and Shanghai. Proposed by Mr. J. Zellensky and seconded by Mr. J. A. Sudka.

WEATHER

Regular monsoon all along our coasts. Fine weather. Signs of a new depression far to the east of the Philippines.

The Piece Goods Crisis

THE local piece goods crisis may be treated of only in rough outline at the present time. Like so many of the other local troubles, this crisis is due to over-speculation, which is only slightly more respectable a term than that of gambling. The Piece Goods Guild has weathered several crisis in the past. Its membership in other days was limited and conservative, and when hit by sudden, heavy fluctuations of exchange, or other world conditions, could with foreign advice and financial support, save itself.

Recently, however, this guild has taken in many irresponsible speculators, who profited heavily so long as exchange went in their favor, but repudiated their contracts when faced with loss. As members of the guild they were entitled to certain credit and on this they gambled. When they lost they couldn't pay.

And now it is announced that the Japanese, in the unfamiliar role of Good Samaritans, are seeking to offset the effects of the boycott and at the same time cut in for a larger slice of the trade at the expense of the other foreign nationals, by selling on long credit to the Chinese who are repudiating their contracts.

There has been a good deal of contract repudiation in Japan recently and if the Japanese go about the world seeking to profit by situations such as the local one, there will be a lot more. Nothing is to be gained on any side by unfair and immoral methods.

Correspondence

THE CASE OF MR. HEARD

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I have been instructed by the Committee of the International Recreation Club to inform you that in consequence of an article which appeared in your issue of the 12th instant a request was made to the Stewards of the International Recreation Club to inquire into the allegations contained in that article against Mr. Heard, a member of the Club and a prominent jockey of Shanghai. The Stewards of the Club having gone into the matter have reported to the Committee of the Club that in their opinion Mr. Heard did not act in any way contrary to rules of racing nor in any manner justifying a censure on that gentleman.

I have been instructed to inform you that the Committee do not wish in any way to curtail a free criticism by the Press of any incident which occurs on the public course of the Club but feel that in this instance they are justified in requesting you to withdraw any suggestion that the words used might be interpreted into improper riding or conduct which a jockey was not entitled to take advantage of in a race on a public course.

Yours faithfully,
Y. S. DAY.
Secretary.

Note: In justice to Mr. Heard we are heartily glad to learn and to publish the fact that the Stewards of the International Recreation Club have made inquiry concerning the race in question and have reached the decision quoted above. So far as this paper is concerned we have already stated in reply to Mr. Heard's letter that no offensive criticism of his riding was intended. The article in question was written by a newcomer to Shanghai, of large race-reporting experience at home. He of course had no axe to grind. In the regular race meets at home professional jockeys are engaged and the race reporters describe the races as they see them without reference to the Stewards or to the susceptibilities of the riders. And when they see anything that looks wrong to them they write about it. That is what they are expected to do—what is demanded of them, in fact. Out here one merely says that so-and-so rode a good finish, not that the rider who finished second rode a bad one.

In the present instance, according to the Stewards, our race-reporter was wrong. But the point we wish to emphasise is this, that racing is a sport, and whether it is amateur or professional, large sums of money are at stake on each event, and if we are only to be permitted to say that so-and-so rode a good race, and are to be denied the privilege of saying that so-and-so rode a bad race, AS WE SAW IT, mind you, of what value are the racing reports beyond the giving of the sweep-winning numbers? Why waste a good reporter's time on the races if that be the case? If a jockey can make a mistake, so can a race-reporter, and if a jockey can only be praised, what's the good of praise? If it's to be a sporting proposition it should be fifty-fifty. The truth is that criticism of a race out here is so unusual—that is, unusual in print—that everybody got upset by this one instance. And we think the matter should have ended with Mr. Heard's letter and our reply to it.

Wilson And His Work

Woodrow Wilson And His Work. By William E. Dodd. Frontispiece and maps. New York: Doubleday, Page and Co.

This is no volume of indiscriminate laudation, but a serious attempt to make a just and critical estimate of the career of President Wilson, to trace his development as he has faced ever larger tasks and greater problems to study his purposes and ideals as he has given them practical application, and to discover to what degree these have influenced the course of history in our own country and in the world. The author, who is Professor of History in the University of Chicago has shown in previous books that he possesses skill in the scrutinising, electing and marshaling of historical data, a judical mind in the estimating of their values, much clarity of insight in their interpretation and a simple, dignified style, not lacking in distinction, in presenting the results of his work. All these qualities are to be found in marked degree in this new book, which is quite the most discriminating, comprehensive and just appraisement of Woodrow Wilson that has yet been made.

Doubtless it is too much to expect that an entirely impartial survey of any public man should be made during his lifetime, and particularly is this true when his career has been carried on in the midst of such violent antagonisms as have rent this country during President Wilson's two terms in the White House. Therefore those who bitterly dislike him and his policies will probably consider the book much too sympathetic in its point of view, while his uncritical admirers will consider it not sufficiently laudatory Professor Dodd appears to be sympathetic with the ideals and aims which with increasing power have inspired the President's public course, but he has kept his personal feeling well under curb and has treated his subject from first to last as a theme for historical study, without prejudice for or against, and with judicial appraisement of every phase. In his introduction he explains that his purpose in writing the book has been to present a just estimate of President Wilson while he lives and while his bitterest opponents occupy the center of the public stage, in order that this contemporary account, made in the spirit of truth and justice while pertinent materials are still easy to obtain, may help to assure a true verdict of history.

The author has made a thorough study and a careful sifting of the immense amount of material that is currently available. He has had several talks with the President, has conferred with his friends; and has questioned his opponents in order to make sure of the causes of their antagonism. The result is a volume that deserves the widest reading because of its temperateness, its calm, judicial quality and its just interpretation of the causes and character of the important developments in our recent history. Most people have short memories and they depend far too much for their convictions upon public men and affairs on the too often distorted and highly colored headliness of the daily newspapers. The reading of such a work as this would refresh the memories and sober the judgments of a big percentage of American voters in a way that would be an excellent preparation for their act of sovereignty next November.

TIPS TO TENANTS

Never quarrel with a landlord. It is best to shoot first and quarrel afterwards.

A landlord will be found very docile when treated in the right way, viz., with a chloroformed handkerchief and a sandbag.

If the landlord growls, shows his teeth and seems inclined to be angry when you answer the door, it will be found an excellent plan to stroke his head gently with a hammer or mallet until all traces of the anger have vanished.

According to the Act, a landlord is supposed to do a certain amount of repairs. If the landlord, upon receiving your application, fails to supply you with a new house in exchange for the old one, we understand that it is quite within your rights to send a letter to the Daily Fuse about it.

London Book Talk

The presence in London of American scholars who are attending the Conference of Professors of English Language and Literature inspired the authorities of the British Museum to organise a most important exhibition. Today in the great King's Library you may see the river of English literature flowing down the centuries from Chaucer to Tennyson in its original aspects. First editions of nearly all the books which have been classic landmarks are shown in glass cases. They are laid open at interesting passages, and they are ticketed so fully that no catalogue is necessary, though a catalogue would have been most welcome as a souvenir.

The effect of the exhibition on the mind is cumulative and remarkable; it is no mere antiquarian tour; one receives a new sense of the gracious unity, flexibility and power of the English language as one sees it bursting in fountain after fountain of drama and song and noble prose, serving men's spiritual and aesthetic needs from generation to generation. Brought thus together in their original dress, these hundreds of great writers seem to belong to one another, to be in apostolic succession. Shakespeare himself is felt to be the greatest in a great band of brothers.

The first cases are devoted to Caxton's noble dealings with Chaucer, which began in Westminster nearly eight years after the death of the poet and almost within sight of his Abbey grave. Here is Chaucer's version of the "Consolations of Philosophy" of Boethius, printed by Caxton in 1479. Here, also, is "The House Fame," printed during the years 1483-85, with Caxton's epilogue in praise of Chaucer, of whom he says that he "writeth no void words, but all his matter is full of high and quick sentence to whom ought to be given laud and praising for his noble making, for of him all others have borrowed since, and taken, in their well saying and writing." In the same case you can pass over "Troilus and Creseyde" as it was printed in 1517 by Caxton's assistant, Winkyn de Worde, who occupied Caxton's house for some years after his master's death. The noble page wafts you home to the springs of our literature as you read:

"Aprochen gan the fatall days of destyne."

Tyndale's New Testament is shown—that Testament which he declared would soon be in every plowboy's hand—and Miles Coverdale's first English-printed Bible, completing Tyndale's work. The Testament lies open at the Sermon on the Mount, which the Authorised Version repeats almost exactly in Tyndale's language though I noticed that "Blessed are the peacemakers" was by him rendered "Blessed are the maynteyners of peace."

It is an education to look on the first editions of Spenser's "Faery Queen," Sydney's "Astrophel and Stella," Lyly's "Euphues," the first edition of Bacon's Essays, and to find one's self confronted by many of the finest quartos of Shakespeare, including "The Merchant of Venice," "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet" and "A Midsummer Night's Dreame," printed at the White Hart in Fleet Street. "Venus and Adonis" and the Sonnets are in this great company of volumes, a fine example of the first folio being the center.

The Elizabethan and Stuart periods are splendidly represented by the first editions of Chapman, Ben Jonson, Beaumont and Fletcher, Heywood, Ford, Webster, Donne, Herrick, Crashaw and Lovelace, to name no others. Lovelace's "Lucasta: Epodes Odes, Sonnets, Songs, etc.," lies open at his deathless "To Althea from Prison," and at the verse:

"When flowing cups run swiftly round
With no allaying Thames,
Our carelesse heads with Roses bound
Our hearts with Loyall Flames;
Then thirsty griefe in Wine we steepe,
When Healths and Draughts go free,
Fishes that tipple in the Deepe
Know no such Libertie."

Here also is the first edition of Walton's "Complete (not "Compleat") Angler," 1653, and Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," 1621. Milton is nobly represented by the original appearance of "Lycidas" as the last poem printed in "Obsequies to the Memorie of Edward King," 1638, and by the first edition of "Comus" and the first issue of the first edition of "Paradiso Lost."

The great eighteenth century men, Swift, Pope, Defoe, Thomson, Gray, Goldsmith and Johnson, are all seen as they first saw themselves in print. It was interesting to look for variations from the final text of Gray's "Elegy." I noticed that the line "Nor you, ye proud, impute to those the fault," stood in the first edition as "Forgive, ye Proud, th' involuntary Fault."

Boswell's first edition of Johnson's life lies open at the famous account of his interview in the library of Buckingham House with George III., in which he told the King that he thought he had already done his part as a writer, and received the compliment which so delighted him: "I would have thought so, too, if you had not written so well."

Nowhere but at the British Museum could so wonderful a collection be seen, and it may be taken for granted that few Americans in London will miss so great a procession of books.

Mr. Grant Richards tells me that he is publishing H. M. Hyndman's new book, "The Evolution of Revolution," this Autumn, and I understand that the publication of the book in America has already been arranged. Next to his magnificent head, which is still covered with luxuriant white hair, the most conspicuous thing about Mr. Hyndman is the large red necktie he always wears—the badge and the mark of his lifelong adherence to socialism. This new book is one of the most important works he has done; he has spent several years on it, but it has been only recently completed. I am looking forward to what he has to say about the Russian Bolsheviki. It was not many months ago that I saw the Socialist patriot on a London platform trying in vain to get a hearing. He looked remarkably vigorous, seeing that he was in his seventy-ninth year, and his fine voice boomed above the tumult like a great bell. But the English sympathisers with Bolshevism at the back of the audience would not let him proceed, so, having shouted his disgust at this infringement of the rights of free speech and the discourtesy shown to a previous speaker who had been giving an impartial account of his experiences in the Red Army, the old veteran sat down 'midst cries of "Traitor!"

It is significant of the extraordinary difficulties that beset the publishing businesses today that a paper like the Athenaeum should devote a page and a half of a recent issue to an article explaining how authors could assist to keep down printing costs. The writer points out that authors often pile up costs in proof correction because they do not understand what kinds of alteration are more or less expensive. Certainly all writers ought to take the trouble to make themselves acquainted with some of the technicalities of the printer's craft. The successful man of commerce cannot afford to be ignorant of any branch of his business, and the author should regard printing as an important branch of his calling and consider the interests of the printer, which are his interests, before his manuscript leaves his hands.

Many writers neither use a typewriter themselves nor get their manuscript typewritten. And (as if they were deeply conscious of the paper shortage) they crowd as many words on to a page as they possibly can. With no margin, and little space between the lines, they yet contrive to make all sorts of interlineations. Apparently it has never entered into their heads that manuscripts so turned out add enormously to the printer's bill. In these times of desperately high costs there is no excuse for an author where manuscript cannot easily be read. He deserves to be numbered among the great army of the Always Rejected.

Hate Is Perpetual Menace To Peace Of Europe

Treaties Can Have But Small Effect Until More Kindly Spirit Develops

BY DR. TOULOUSE
Eminent French Writer And Economist

The war solved none of the problems it was supposed to solve. Peace being built on a spirit of hatred, new wars are cropping up everywhere like soldiers from the dragon's teeth.

If hostilities are smouldering all over the world it is because the despots of western Europe, who took it upon themselves to settle the affairs of the universe, refuse to accept the fundamental truth that peoples refuse to live up to agreements made without their consent, by representatives who were not elected for the purpose.

Furthermore, not a single treaty is regarded as definitive by the signatory powers. Every nation signs it with a mental proviso. The treaty will be lived up to just as far as it coincides with the interest of the nation in question, while every method will be tried to evade clauses which are not compatible with that nation's ambitions or desires. This applies to the victors as well as to the defeated.

Meanwhile, frequent conference, notes and threats keep public opinion in a state of ferment and uncertainty—a tragic and dangerous thing. Especially as running through the masses is a current of discontent, coupled with resentment at complying with decisions made by plenipotentiaries having no real mandate from their peoples.

If Europe is to have peace, and the world with it, the basis of treaties must not be hatred or punishment, but co-operation.

Conditions imposed on the defeated must not be such that human life is not given a fair balance to develop and prosper. In all nations men must have the wherewithal to live. Each man's food must be definitively assured, conditions of labor safeguarded, and this implies that raw materials must be distributed in such a way as to satisfy the industrial and biological needs of peoples al over the world.

The new era we all hope for can be attained only by a unanimous agreement which will place, on equal footing, victorious and vanquished, Europeans and Americans, white and black, rich and poor, workingmen and industrial magnates.

EACH HAS RIGHT

I know this idea savors strongly of heresy. Yet educated people when talking sincerely refuse to admit that their country—simply because they belong to it—should have more rights than others to monopolise materials or products necessary for the upkeep of human life.

Every nation has the right to provide for its own subsistence. It has the duty to produce to the utmost of its ability. Then must follow reciprocal and easy methods of exchange between peoples.

But this demands that we tear out of our minds the sweet picture of the defeated toiling for the victorious. The elements of social prosperity cannot be drawn from an oppressive peace—no more than high moral principles can come out of the war. No nation has the right to enslave the muscles or brains of another.

Affairs in Europe have come to such a pass that it is time to see things as they are and ask whether the Entente would not gain more by making a real peace with those whom it defeated than by trying to live up to old-fashioned diplomatic chimeras.

I fully grant that German mentality does not inspire me with confidence.

But the points: Will we get more out of the Germans by shutting them in an international prison than by allowing them to join the association of free peoples?

Reformatories and prisons have proved the futility of punishment. No criminal has ever been converted by hard labor; if he reforms, it is due to some moral factor which will enable him later on to take his place in civilized society.

PRISON FOR NATIONS

A prison term is punishment for a crime committed. But is it possible to punish half a continent indefinitely? Can the prison method be applied to nations? Is it effective?

Events have proved it is not.

On the contrary, the prison method perpetuates a state of mind which leads to new wars. It obliges man-power to concentrate on munitions and destructive work, while the world is menaced by famine for lack of hands to till the soil.

If discontented workingmen refuse to work, if suffering and misery are not alleviated, if the spirit of hatred is allowed to flourish and to prevent sound international co-operation, the cataclysm will be such that the eyes of the world will finally be opened. But then the question will be: Who can pay the costs of such an armed peace?

Whether we consider it from the sentimental or economic point of view, the rulers of the Entente must stop cultivating hatred like poisonous flowers. Though it may hurt their pride, they must throw hatred aside and quiet the great agitation which is seething through the world. In this way only can they bring prosperity to the exhausted peoples.

The Beginning Of School

A Big Change From Outdoors To Indoors

BY DR. WM. A. MCKEEVER

(Professor In The University Of Kansas And A Well-Known Educator)

The sudden transference of the child from the romping outdoor life to the quiet, indoor class room is a shock to the entire system. If we are to hope for best results with the studies, we must methodically change the entire mode of living to support the new awakening activities of the mind.

1. To keep the body healthy and growing.

2. To keep the emotions under control and in comparative poise.

3. To transmute the physical energy into the maximum of mental energy.

The foregoing are the three aspects of our problem as we proceed to transfer our children from the open lawn to the closed school. And the first two must be considered as somewhat subordinate to the third.

Statistics will show that there is a wave of dullness, of weakened health and morbidity during about the third week of the opening term—a result of the change from the physical dominance to the mental dominance in the life of the pupil. The brain work calls for the exercise of a new system of the finer muscles, for exercise of a large and hitherto quiescent area of the nervous mechanism and for a distinctive change in the circulation of the blood.

As to the dietary, there should be a reduction in the amount and a change in the quality. Keep your child slightly underfed and a trifle hungry during the first two or three weeks of the new school term, as a guarantee of the health tone necessary to meet the radical change in his mode of life It is nerve energy rather than muscle energy which is now called for and which the food must supply. Easily digested food must now be the rule.

Guard well the emotions of the younger pupil. Timidity, bashfulness, fear of failure or punishment, anger and jealously—some of these are likely to be very disturbing factors in the health and mentality of the childish learner. Fear is the most common and it exercises a very marked influence on the blood pressure, the digestive system and the normal function of the mind. If permitted to continue daily, fear will cause constriction of the blood supply to the digestive processes and will tend to unbalance the health of the child. My test instrument has shown a reduction of 25 to 50 percent in the efficiency of the heart action under the disturbance of fear.

By means of quiet but positive reassurance try to allay the fear, embarrassment or timidity which may be gripping your child at the beginning of the school term. Go into each difficult matter with him and deal with it as seems suitable. The effect of this treatment on his school life will likely be noticeable and pleasing.

Finally, help your child to get his new mind habits started. Lower grade children should not, as a rule, study at home. But for the first week or two the parents should help them to become acquainted with the new lessons and texts.

"A MAN IS AS OLD AS HIS ARTERIES"

Flush the mineral impurities out through the kidneys before High Blood Pressure, Bright's Disease, Gall Stones, Dropsy or Diabetes force you to, says medical man.

If the constantly forming mineral impurities, such as uric acid, urate of soda, etc., are permitted to remain in the blood they are sure to deposit on walls of the arteries, which then lose their elasticity and can no longer regulate the blood pressure by expanding and contracting. Any shock, excitement or quick exertion may easily affect the heart so as to prove fatal. Before it is too late, drink occasionally a tumbler of water in which you have dissolved a level teaspoonful of an inexpensive compound known by the registered name Alkia Saltrates (powder form). This alkaline medicinal water will soon neutralise and wash out the acidulous impurities and flush the kidneys. Then notice how much better you feel. Try it before you decide to incur the expense of visiting some famous hot mineral spring to drink medicinal water similar both in composition and effects.

NOTE.—We are informed that Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, stock a specially high grade of Alkia Saltrates and are in a position to supply this remarkable compound at a very low cost.

For Those Who Fail

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

There are songs enough for the hero
Who dwells on the heights of fame;
I sing for the disappointed—
For those who missed their aim.

I sing with a tearful cadence
For one who stands in the dark.
And knows that his last best arrow
Has bounded back from the mark.

I sing for the breathless runner,
The eager, anxious soul,
Who falls with his strength exhausted,
Almost in sight of the goal.

For the hearts that break in silence,
With a sorrow all unknown;
For those who need companions,
Yet walk their ways alone.

There are songs enough for the lovers,
Who share life's tender pain;
I sing for the one whose passion
Is given all in vain;

For those whose spirit comrades
Have missed them on the way;
I sing, with a heart o'erflowing,
This minor strain today.

And I know the solar system
Must somewhere keep in space
A prize for that spent runner
Who barely lost the race.

For the plan would be imperfect
Unless it held some sphere
That paid for the toil and talent
And love that are wasted here.

Marshal Haig Makes Plea For Unemployed Veterans

Many Have Had No Work Since War And Are In Dire Straits

BY EARL HAIG OF BEMERSYDE

Commander-in-Chief of the British Army in the war, who heads the campaign in England for a square deal for demobilised officers and men.

From time to time since the Great War ended and demobilisation began, appeals have been made to the nation to honor the bond into which it entered with the men who gave us victory. The terms of the bond were simple, clear and perfectly well understood by every man and woman in the land. They were that no man who went out to fight for his country in the crisis of its fate should be in a worse position on his return to civil life.

The nation as a whole incurred a debt of honor to find employment for the fighting man, when he had completed the noblest task with which a Briton has ever been entrusted, and the greater part of that debt has now been repaid.

But the ex-service man still awaits the full redemption which is his due. There were plenty of ex-service men drawing unemployment and donation on July 16.

The Minister of Labor stated in the House of Commons on July 22 that 22,000 disabled men were registered for employment.

There are at the present moment 13,918 officers and men of similar attainment registered with the Appointments Department.

PROBLEMS OF LAST 100,000

The suggestion is often made that the last hundred thousand ex-Service men belong chiefly to the class which is the despair of employers—namely, the unemployable. It is true that a point is being reached at which considerable difficulty is found in placing men who have no specialised knowledge or obvious qualifications for such employment as is actually available. But that, to my mind, is only another reason for the making of a still more determined effort than has yet been found possible to fit these men into our well-ordered social system which they did so much to preserve. Some of these difficult cases are particularly heart-breaking.

They are the cases of men who stood out above the level of their fellows on the battlefields in courage, endurance, and that practical ingenuity which is so valuable in modern war.

In any event, there can be no question that the so-called "unemployable" class and the difficult cases are the minority of the 190,000 ex-service men who have had no work to do today and have no job in prospect for tomorrow.

The vast majority are men who are only too anxious to work. For months past, day in and day out, they have sought employment and failed to find it. They left their homes and threw up promising careers to fight for their country, and theirs is the highest claim in the period of peace which they have given to our trade and industry.

To show what remains to be done, let me give a few well-authenticated cases of ex-service men who are still without employment. There is the case of a man who was twenty-three years in the army, and is now forty-eight years of age. Before the war he had retired as a warrant officer and was farming very successfully in pigs and poultry. At the outbreak of the war he was recalled to the colors and sold up everything. He was given commissioned rank and for five years rendered distinguished war service, ultimately rising to the command of his battalion. Demobilised in 1919, this fine soldier was unable to find employment of any kind, owing to his age, and to some extent to the fact that he had risen by sheer capacity to the rank of major. For a long period he has been living upon a very small pension and the remains of his army gratuity, together with assistance from voluntary funds.

HIS OLD PLACE GONE

There is the case of a captain in the Royal Marines, aged forty-seven years, married, with one child. He put in four years' home service. An electrical engineer by profession, he was for thirteen years borough engineer of a large corporation in the north of England. He resigned his post to join us. He now finds that his old post is not open, and he is judged to be too old when in open competition for similar positions.

Or take the case of a man now aged forty years, who before the war farmed in New Zealand and South Africa. He volunteered for service in South Africa in 1890-1902. In the Great War he sold his farm and possessions and came to England with his wife and two small children to offer his services. Obtaining a commission, he was given command of his regiment and was awarded the D. S. O. and two bars. He was severely wounded and taken prisoner of war in March, 1918. He received a testimonial from 700 officers at a prisoners' camp in Germany in grateful acknowledgment of services he had rendered to his fellow prisoners, on demobilisation he was unable to return to South Africa because of an invalid wife and an increased family of four children. For many months he had been unable to obtain employment.

PIGMIES IN NEW GUINEA

(From the Philadelphia Record)

A new tribe of pigmies has been discovered by the British ornithologists' expedition along the upper course of the Mimiki River, in New Guinea.

The pigmies encountered by the expedition lived at an elevation of about 2,000. They averaged 4 feet 3 inches in height, the tallest individuals attaining about 4 feet 6 inches.

They were very wild, and not much appears to have been learned concerning their ways of life. They are believed to belong to the Negrito race.

The discovery was made in the Dutch, or western part of the island. A pigmy tribe was already known in German, or Eastern New Guinea, and the two are assumed to be racially allied.
